Early Voting For Primaries Begins Saturday

By SCOTT JACKSON

In-person early voting for the September state primary election will kick off on Saturday and continue through next week.

Saturday is also the final day to register to vote in the primary election. The deadline to request a mail-in ballot is two days later.

In Quincy, in-person early voting will be held on Saturday, Aug. 27, and Sunday, Aug. 28, at North Quincy High School at 316 Hancock St. Polls will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. both days. Voters are asked to use the Hunt Street entrance to the gym.

From Monday, Aug. 29 to Friday, Sept. 2, in-person early voting will take place inside City Hall at 1305 Hancock St. in Quincy Center. Polls will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. all five days.

Early voting by mail is already ongoing ahead of the primary. The deadline for voters to request a mail-in ballot for the primary is 5 p.m. on Monday, Aug. 29. For the primary, ballots must be received by election officials no later than 8 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 6, in order to be counted. Ballots received after the deadline,

Fall 2027 Opening Eyed For New Quantum School

By SCOTT JACKSON

It will take five years to design and construct the replacement for the Quantum Elementary School, Supt. Kevin Mulvey said recently, and construction of a new elementary school in West Quincy will likely be the next priority for the district.

Located on Huckins Avenue, the Quantum Elementary School first opened its doors to students in 1919. Additions were added to the single-story building in 1948 and 1971.

The Massachusetts School Building Authority in April 2021 agreed to invite the district into its capital pipeline program, the first step in replacing or renovating the school. The city has previously worked with the MSBA to build a new Quincy High School and the new Central and South-West Middle Schools.

The Quantum Elementary School project advanced to a feasibility study this spring; it is during this step in the process that the MSBA will determine whether the building can be renovated or if it needs to be replaced.

2 Quincy Firefighters Promoted To Captain, Lieutenant

New Ranks For

Timothy Lynch, Joseph Callahan

By SCOTT JACKSON

Two Quincy firefighters received promotions – one to the rank of captain and one to the rank of lieutenant – at a recent ceremony inside City Hall before a crowd of family members and fellow firefighters.

Timothy Lynch was promoted to captain and Joseph Callahan to lieutenant during the ceremony on the afternoon of Aug. 16 inside the Great Hall of the McIntyre Government Center. City Clerk Nicole Crispo swore in the two newly promoted firefighters at the event.

Lynch joined the Quincy Fire Department in November 2013 and was promoted to lieutenant in February 2020. Callahan was hired in February 2017.

Mayor Thomas Koch congratulated the two officers for receiving their promotions.

"I know this is a big day for both gentlemen here we're about to promote. It's also a great day for the department as you all know," Koch said.

"I know it's challenging, difficult, taking the exam, waiting your turn, hoping for the best and it doesn't always work out – so it's awesome when it does work out and today, we've got two individuals it worked out for. We're grateful for them, for their service and we're very grateful for the entire department, what you do each and every day for the people of our city."

Fire Chief Joseph Jackson said he was glad to see two younger firefighters embrace the opportunity to assume leadership roles within the department.

"Congratulations to you, congratulations to your families – this is a great day for you all," Jackson said. "This a huge commitment and I think it's great to see the younger guys on the job embrace the opportunity to get themselves promoted and jump into the role of management."

"I hear nothing but great things about the two of you. You guys are our future leaders. Congratulations again to you and your families."

Choral Society, Symphony Orchestra Pops Concert Sept. 3 At H-A Common

Mayor Thomas P. Koch and the City of Quincy invite the community to enjoy an evening of music and song on Saturday, Sept. 3, for a combined Pops Concert by The Quincy Choral Society and Quincy Symphony Orchestra.

The concert begins at 4 p.m. at the Hancock-Adams Common.

Cabaret tables and chairs along with theatre seating will be available. Lawn chairs are allowed. Beer and wine can be purchased from Hive Mobile Bar.

"We are so fortunate to have such a tremendous caliber of talented singers and musicians in our community," Koch said. "We welcome everyone to appreciate the artistry of the Quincy Symphony Orchestra and Quincy Choral Society on what we hope to be a beautiful early September evening on the Hancock Adams Common."

License Board Grants 13 Requests

By SCOTT JACKSON

At its most recent meeting, the Board of License Commissioners approved more than a dozen different requests for various licenses.

The board granted the licenses during its meeting on the afternoon of Aug. 16.

Among those approved was the request of the Quincy Chamber of Commerce to extend the hours of the Kilroy Square beer and wine license until 11 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 30. Chamber President Tim Cahill said an Oktoberfest event would be held that evening in the Kilroy Square beer garden, and organizers want to be able to stay open later depending on demand.

"We don't expect a lot, but it has been very popular the last couple of weekends, especially once the weather has gotten warmer, and they've done a great job of managing the crowd, keeping them where they're supposed to be, keeping the alcohol in one place, and it's done extremely well," Cahill said.

The Oktoberfest event may include live music, such as a German band, Cahill added.

Also approved during the meeting was the request of the Merrymount Association for a one-day beer and wine license and a special-use permit for the Merrymount Association Beach Market on Saturday, Sept.

10, from 1 to 6 p.m.

The association has previously hosted a yard sale, and this year's event will feature residents from the neighborhood selling their items as well as outside vendors. Break Rock Brewing will be selling beer, wine and seltzer during the day, and the event will also include food trucks and live music.

The board also awarded Tony's Clam Shop, 861 Quincy Shore Dr., a cabaret license for the Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays in October to allow for solo and duet live music on those days. The hours for the live entertainment are 6 to 8 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays and 3 to 5 p.m. on Sundays, and the performances will take place outdoors on the restaurant's patio space.

"There's been a number of requests and successful events in the neighborhood for some light music entertainment on the weekends," said Helen Shiner, the interim general manager at Tony's. "After careful consideration, we tried to find the most amenable time where it wouldn't be intrusive to the neighbors but still meet the needs of the customers enjoying the weather and the outdoor space at Tony's."

Live entertainment might not be offered on all the upcoming weekends, she added. The restaurant will not be providing amplification,

Spinning Demonstration Saturday At Quincy Homestead

Quincy Homestead will be open for tours on Saturday, Aug. 27 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and will feature a spinning demonstration by Zoe Lawson and free ice cream after tours.

The Homestead, located at 34 Butler Rd., Quincy, was home to four generations of the Quincy family, including Dorothy Quincy, wife of John Hancock. It is a U.S. National Historic Landmark.

Zoe Lawson acquired a passion for spinning at an early age. Her parents were active in Revolutionary War reenactments and she spent most of her summer weekends in 18th century encampments. After a spinner at one of the camps taught her some simple techniques when she was eight, she came home, found a top she had made at the Boston Children's Museum and started spinning. She's been practicing the craft ever since.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Sept. 11, 1857, Mormon guerrillas, stoked by a deep resentment of decades of public abuse and federal interference, murder 120 emigrants at Mountain Meadows, Utah. The conflict apparently began when the Mormons refused to sell the emigrants any supplies.

• On Sept. 10, 1897, a 25-year-old London taxi driver named George Smith becomes the first person ever arrested for drunk driving. A true breath test didn't come along until 1931 with a device called the Drunkometer. It involved a blow-up balloon and a tube filled with a purple fluid (potassium permanganate and sulfuric acid). Alcohol on a person's breath changed the color of the fluid from purple to yellow; the quicker the change, the drunker the person.

• On Sept. 7, 1936, Charles Harden Holley is born in Lubbock, Texas. Performing under the name Buddy Holly, he left behind a rock 'n' roll legacy that includes "That'll Be the Day" and "Maybe Baby" after his death in 1959 at the age of 22.

• On Sept. 9, 1942, in the first and only air attack on the U.S. mainland during World War II, a Japanese floatplane drops incendiary bombs on Oregon's Mount Emily, setting fire to a state forest. The president immediately called for a news blackout for the sake of morale.

• On Sept. 8, 1965, the five-year Delano Grape Strike begins as over 2,000 Filipino American farmworkers refuse to go to work picking grapes near Bakersfield, California. Over the next five years, even American households stopped buying grapes in support of the farmworkers.

• On Sept. 5, 1972, at the Summer Olympics in Munich, Germany, a group of Palestinian terrorists, known as Black September, storms the Olympic Village apartment of the Israeli athletes, killing two and taking nine others hostage. In an ensuing shootout at the Munich airport, the nine Israeli hostages were killed.

• On Sept. 6, 1995, Baltimore Orioles shortstop Cal Ripken Jr. plays in his 2,131st consecutive game. Ripken went on to play 2,632 games in a row before ending the streak by voluntarily removing himself from a game against the New York Yankees on Sept. 19, 1998.

These plants display great beauty in the garden during late summer and early fall when not much else is blooming. Ginger lilies are not true lilies, but instead are a distant cousin of gingerroot that's used in cooking. They are beloved for their graceful, orchid-like blossoms that remind some of butterfly wings. In fact, butterflies love slurping their nectar, so a ginger lily is a great choice for a pollinator garden with some shade. It can grow up to 6 feet tall and spread out almost as wide.

Early Voting For State Primaries Begins Saturday

even if postmarked on or before Sept. 6, will not be counted.

Voters can return their ballots by mail using the provided envelope, which does not require the voter to pay for postage. Quincy voters can also drop off their ballots in the ballot drop-box located outside City Hall, 1305 Hancock St. in Quincy Center, or return their ballot in-person to the Election Department on the second floor of the glass City Hall annex building. Ballots can also be brought to the city's in-person early voting locations while they are open for early voting.

Absentee balloting is also available for the election. To qualify, a voter must be away from their city or town on the day of the election or have a disability or religious belief that prevents them from going to the polls that day. The deadline for absentee balloting is noon on Friday, Sept. 2.

On the day of the primary, Tuesday, Sept. 6, polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The deadline to register to vote in the primary is this Saturday, Aug. 27, at 5 p.m. Quincy residents can register to vote on Saturday at City Hall from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Residents will also be able to register to vote on Saturday at North Quincy High School while it is open for early voting and can cast their ballots there that same day.

The winners the Sept. 6 primary will advance to the general election on Tuesday, Nov. 8.

Headlining this year's contests in Massachusetts is the race for the open governor's seat. Incumbent Republican Gov. Charlie Baker is not seeking reelection after two terms in office and Lt. Gov. Karyn Polito is neither seeking reelection nor running for governor.

In the Democratic primary, Maura Healey of Boston, currently the state's attorney general, is unopposed. State Sen. Sonia Chang-Diaz's name also appears on the ballot but she has withdrawn from the primary.

The Republican primary features a two-way race for the nomination. The contest is between Geoff Diehl of Whitman, a former state representative, and Wrentham businessman Chris Doughy.

There are also competitive primaries in the race for lieutenant governor.

Three candidates are running on the Democratic side. They are Salem Mayor Kimberly Driscoll; state Rep. Tami Gouveia of Acton; and state Sen. Eric Lesser of Longmeadow.

Two candidates are facing off in the GOP primary, Leah Allen of Danvers and Kate Campanale of Spencer. Both are former state representatives.

In the race to replace Healey as attorney general, three candidates are running in the Democratic primary. They are Andrea Campbell, a former Boston city councillor; attorney Shannon Liss-Riordan of Brookline; and Quentin Palfrey, a former assistant attorney general, of Weston.

The winner of that primary will face attorney James McMahon of Bourne in November. He is unopposed in the Republican primary.

The Democratic primary features a contested race for secretary of state. Incumbent William Galvin of Boston is seeking reelection and is opposed in the primary by Tanisha Sullivan, also of Boston, who is the president of the Boston branch of the NAACP.

The winner will face Rayla Campbell of Whitman in November. She is unopposed in the Republican primary.

The Democratic primary has a two-person race for the open state auditor position as well. That contest pits Christopher Dempsey, a Brookline town meeting member, against state Sen. Diana DiZogio of Methuen.

The winner in that primary will face off against Anthony Amore of Winchester in November. Amore, the director of security at the Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum, is unopposed in the GOP primary.

The state's remaining constitutional officer, Treasurer Deborah Goldberg, a Brookline Democrat, in unopposed in the primary and will not have a Republican opponent in November.

This fall's election in Massachusetts also features races for seats in the US House of Representatives, but not the US Senate.

In the Eighth Congressional District, which includes Quincy, Rep. Stephen Lynch of Boston is unopposed in the Democratic primary.

Two candidates are running in the Republican primary for the same seat: Robert Burke of Milton and Hamilton Soares Rodrigues of Canton.

Seats in the state legislature on Beacon Hill are also up for grabs this year.

Incumbent Sen. John Keenan of the Norfolk-Plymouth District, which includes all of Quincy, is unopposed in the Democratic primary. In the Republican primary, Gary Innes of Hanover is likewise running unopposed.

One of Quincy's three state representatives, all Democrats, is facing a challenger in the primary. The primary in the First Norfolk District pits incumbent Rep. Bruce Ayers against Casey Dooley; both are Quincy residents. No Republican is running in that district.

Rep. Tackey Chan of the Second Norfolk District and Rep. Ronald Mariano of the Third Norfolk District are both unopposed in their respective primaries. Chan will face a Republican challenger - Sharon Cintolo of Quincy - in November while Mariano, the speaker of the House, does not have a GOP opponent.

The Democratic primary also includes a contest for Norfolk County commissioner between incumbent Peter Collins of Milton and Paul Yorkis of Medway, a former member of the town's planning board.

The November election will also include a race for the Fourth District Governor's Council seat between incumbent Democrat Christopher Iannella Jr. and Republican Helene "Teddy" MacNeal, both Boston residents.

Norfolk District Attorney Michael Morrissey and Norfolk County Sheriff Patrick McDermott, both Quincy Democrats, are also on this year's ballot. Both are unopposed in the primary and neither will have a Republican opponent in November.

Legislature Votes To Pass Legislation To Foster Greater Fairness, Equity In Cannabis Industry

The Massachusetts Legislature has passed legislation that encourages and facilitates participation in the cannabis industry from communities disproportionately harmed by marijuana criminalization by creating a Social Equity Trust Fund. The bill also strengthens the host community agreement process and clarifies procedures for permitting social consumption sites.

"This legislation builds upon the House's multi-session efforts to create a fair and successful cannabis industry, fostering equitable opportunities to those disproportionately impacted by the systemic racism of historic drug policy," said

Speaker of the House Ronald Mariano (D-Quincy). "With this legislation, the House addresses ongoing concerns that have only become more pronounced with the growth of the cannabis industry, such as the host community agreement process and systemic barriers for minority-owned business to enter the cannabis market."

"This bill further builds upon our goals of an equitable and diverse cannabis industry in Massachusetts by providing enhanced opportunities for diverse residents from all communities to participate in the industry," said state Rep. Tackey Chan (D-Quincy). "Having previously worked on this important issue as member of the Joint Committee on Cannabis Policy, I am proud to see the House pass this important measure to ensure the growth of a competitive and equitable cannabis industry in Massachusetts. I am grateful to the Speaker and my colleagues for moving this bill forward."

"It is my hope that this legislation will ensure that the cannabis industry moves forward in an inclusive, transparent, and responsible manner," said state Sen. John Keenan (D-Quincy).

"An Act relative to equity in the cannabis industry" (H. 4791):

Establishes the Cannabis Social Equity Trust Fund

This legislation creates a trust fund to make grants and loans to social equity program participants and economic empowerment priority applicants, filling the gap left by the unavailability of banking services in the industry and facilitating participation in the cannabis industry of entrepreneurs from communities that have been disproportionately harmed by marijuana prohibition and enforcement. Social equity business are marijuana establishments primarily owned by individuals eligible for the social equity program or whose

Scenes From Yesterday

THIS IS A 1911 postcard view of what is now known as the Faith Lutheran Church on Granite Street near Quincy Center. Sometimes known as "The Church on the Rock," it was organized in 1889 as the Swedish Evangelical Lutheran Salem Church. The first pastor and church members quarried granite for the church from the ledge it sits on. The quarrymen were available because there was a general strike at all Quincy quarries at the time. The church was completed in 1894 at a total cost of $8,000 including the land. A vestry wing was added in 1914. Over the years granite walls have been built and filled with soil to allow flowers, grass, shrubs and trees to grow on the ledge.

After 12-Year Wait, Mass Transit Returns

Mass transportation returns to Quincy Sept. 1 for the first time in 12 years when the long-awaited MBTA South Shore extension opens officially.

A variety of festivities are planned at the North Quincy, Wollaston and Quincy Center stations to mark the big occasion. It will be the first time trains have operated between Quincy and Boston since the defunct Old Colony Line shut down in 1959.

The multi-million dollar MBTA line is a "first" for Quincy — its first rapid transit commuter service ever.

On hand to greet the new MBTA trains will be dignitaries headed by Gov. Francis W. Sargent, former Gov. John A. Volpe, now Secretary of Transportation, Mayor James R. McIntyre and City Council members as well as officials of the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority.

South Shore residents will be re-introduced to trains after a 12-year absence with free rides from Quincy to the "South Portal" interchange near Columbia station as guests of the MBTA.

SARGENT PROCLAIMS SEPT. 1

'SUPPORT TRANSPORTATION DAY'

Governor Francis W. Sargent issued a proclamation declaring Sept. 1 as "Support Public Transportation Day."

Urging all citizens of the Commonwealth to take part in the event, Sargent noted that Sept. 1 marks the inauguration of rapid transit service to the South Shore by the MBTA.

Expedites the Expungement Process

For individuals seeking to expunge a record for previous offenses that are now decriminalized, this legislation requires the court to order the expungement of the record within 30 days of the request and expunge records for possession of marijuana or distribution of marijuana based on the now-legal amount.

ownership qualifies it as an economic empowerment priority applicant.

Twenty percent of the revenue collected from the sale of marijuana and marijuana products must be transferred to the Cannabis Social Equity Trust Fund which will be administered by the Executive Office of Housing and Economic Development, in consultation with a newly created Cannabis Social Equity Advisory Board.

Clarifies the Host Community Agreements process

Since the passage of the cannabis legalization law in 2017, the Cannabis Control Commission has asked the Legislature for further clarity on the agency's authority to review host community agreements, which are executed between a marijuana establishment and their hosting municipality.

This legislation authorizes the Commission to review host community agreements, and if determined lawful, to approve them. The legislation also authorizes the Commission to prioritize social equity program businesses and economic empowerment priority applicants for expedited review.

The legislation also clarifies the scope of host community agreements and adds new criteria, such as:

- No host community agreement can include a community impact fee that is beyond the businesses fifth year of operation.

- Provides further guidance on how to calculate the maximum community impact fee allowed of 3 percent of the gross sales.

- The community impact fee must encompass all payments and obligations between the host community and the establishment or treatment center.

- No host community agreement can include a promise to make a future monetary payment, in-kind contribution or charitable contribution.

- o If the licensee believes the cost information is not reasonably related to the actual costs in the preceding year it may petition the CCC for review.

- o The CCC may also consider the reasonableness of past community impact fees paid under the same host community agreement.

- The CCC must review and approve each host community agreement as part of

September Programs For Adults, Teens At MPL

By JEAN HLADY
Milton Public Library

During the month of September, the Milton Public Library is offering a wonderful variety of programs for adults and teens.

Starting on Thursday, Sept. 1, at 7 p.m., in the Keys Community Room, there will be a meeting of the Celebrity Book Club. Read what the celebrities are reading!

Library staff members Sara Truog and Sally Lawler will lead you in a fun, relaxed discussion of books recommended by popular celebrities. The assigned book for this meeting is: "The Ensemble" by Aja Bael, recommended by Gwyneth Paltrow. Registration is required and opened Aug. 18th. This program will also be offered via Zoom so please indicate your preference (for in-person vs. virtual) when you register.

Our ongoing Library Knitting Group will resume on Thursday, Sept. 1, at 7 p.m. and continue later in the month on Saturday, Sept. 17, at 10 a.m., with both drop-in meetings held in the lower level Conference Room. Come join other fabric artists to share your project and to get knitting tips and tricks as you enjoy their company and make new friends at the same time!

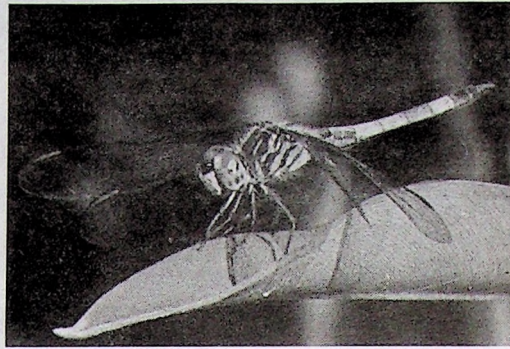

No registration is required so just stop by, but if you would like to get on the organizer's list to receive reminders about this fun twice monthly program, email jhlady@ocln.org and she will make sure you are connected.

On Tuesday, Sept. 6, at 7 p.m., there will be a talk via Zoom called: "Dragonflies, Damselflies and Spreadwings: Beautiful and Beneficial" with photographer and naturalist Joy Marzolf. In this fascinating virtual program, the presenter will teach us about what are these insects doing in our yards and how do you tell males from females? Enjoy beautiful images of these animals and learn more about some amazing flyers and how their presence in our neighborhood can benefit all of us!

Ms. Marzolf loves to share her knowledge about wildlife in nature, and in addition to a B.A. in biology, she has been doing a variety of animal-related educational programs in her professional life for over 20 years. We hope you might join us, although advance registration is required to participate so go to www.miltonlibrary.org to sign up and to receive the Zoom link.

Then there will be a Virtual Meditation Workshop called "Be Kind To Your Mind" with instructor Amy Rutledge of California happening on Tuesday, Sept. 13, at 7 p.m. Join us online for this Zoom meditation and relaxation session, as Amy will teach us a little about the benefits of meditation and will guide us through a 30-minute class. Ms. Rutledge has been teaching online classes via Zoom, Youtube and Facebook Live for Libraries during this challenging time, and she has experience teaching all ages, including teens, so please include your children over 12. You must sign up in advance to participate in this relaxing activity from your armchair, and once registered you will receive the Zoom link.

The first in-person concert in the library's fall music series will happen on Thursday, Sept. 15, starting at 7 p.m. and this will be with the incredibly talented trio called "North Sea Gas" of Scotland. The event will be held in the lower level Keys Community Room, and we are so fortunate that this dynamic and comical group is again on tour in the U.S. and will make a stop in Milton.

After 40 years together and stronger than ever, North Sea Gas is one of Scotland's most popular folk bands as they bring great vocals and tremendous 3-part harmonies to their performances. Guitars, mandolin, fiddle, bouzouki, harmonica, whistles, bodhrans, banjo and good humor are all part of their concerts as well. No signup is required to attend this concert, so please just come and bring your families as the repertoire is appropriate for all ages. Host Jean Hladý hopes to see you there to enjoy some great entertainment in September!

Pop culture historian and prolific author Marty Gitlin will give a virtual talk on Tuesday, Sept. 20, at 7 p.m. called "Significant Sporting Events that Changed America." This enlightening program will entertain and illuminate sports fans or anyone interested in American history.

Mr. Gitlin will show exciting videos of sporting events - through more than 100 years - that greatly impacted society and/or the sports themselves. Included are the sale of Babe Ruth to the Yankees, Jesse Owens at the 1936 Berlin Olympics, the 1958 NFL Championship Game 5 that brought football into prominence, and much more. These fascinating images will be followed by trivia questions for participants to ponder and finally also some Q&A.

Please join us for a thought-provoking sports experience! Advance registration is required at our website to receive the Zoom link.

The MPL's final program will be in-person in the Keys Community Room on Tuesday, Sept. 27, starting at 7 p.m. and this will be a lecture by historian Bob Begin called "Boston History Talk: The Coconut Grove Fire." In November of 1942, America was feeling the full brunt of the war, and across the globe war was raging on all fronts. Europe was under German control, in North Africa GIs were up against Italian and German forces, and in the Pacific Marines were fighting the Japanese on air, land, and sea for control of a remote island named Guadalcanal. The city of Boston was full of men coming and going, and the harbor was full of merchant ships and war ships.

The Coconut Grove, a romantic, exotic and popular nightclub, caught fire when filled with customers, and tragically 492 people perished. Learn what caused the fire, how it spread, and who were the victims in this educational program. The talk will be held in person but also recorded by Milton Access Cable for later viewing, so not available via Zoom.

Please register in advance at www.miltonlibrary.org, then click on "events" from the main page and then choose the date of Sept. 27 to sign up as we will be checking people in at the door.

All of these events are kindly sponsored by the Friends of the Milton Public Library and are free and open to all. For questions, email librarian Jean Hladý at jhlady@ocln.org or call the Reference Dept. at (617) 898-4964. We look forward to seeing you at a library program this September!

Barbara Graceffa Quilts On Display At Milton Public Library In September

Free, Open Reception Sept. 14 At Library Gallery

The Milton Public Library is hosting a display entitled "Not Your Grandma's Quilt Show" featuring quilts by Quincy's Barbara Graceffa during September at the library's Wotiz Gallery.

As a teacher, artist and quilter, Graceffa is self-taught and has received several awards for her work, including "Best in Show - Blue Ribbon Quilt" at the Marshfield Fair. She is a teacher at the New England Quilt Museum located in Lowell, and also teaches many different classes about design, decluttering, home staging, and more, including having presented some virtual talks at the Milton Public Library.

September's gallery collection will show 20 traditional and contemporary quilts and wall hangings which Barbara started exhibiting in 2018. Her pieced and applique wall quilts are simple in design, but they are unique in that her choice of fabrics and how she pairs them, transforms them, and sometimes embellishes them makes her work stand out from other quilters' art.

In her first juried show, her art quilt "Out on a Limb" was chosen by The Brush Gallery to appear in its annual art quilt exhibition. This upcoming Wotiz exhibit is her fourth solo display in the past six years, and she is a member of 4 quilt guilds from Abington to Arlington. She is also a talented columnist for The Quincy Sun and works with clients as an interior decorator.

Graceffa's quilting journey started down a well-travelled path 40 years ago but diverged "somewhere ages and ages hence." Trading traditional patchwork bed coverings for artistic wall quilts, she now looks at design, creativity, technique, color, fabric and embellishment through a different lens, and as Robert Frost says in his poem "The Road Not Taken?" "...and that has made all the difference."

There will also be a free and open reception held on Wednesday, Sept. 14, from 6-8 p.m. in the gallery. Come meet the artist in person and view her lovely collection of art quilts.

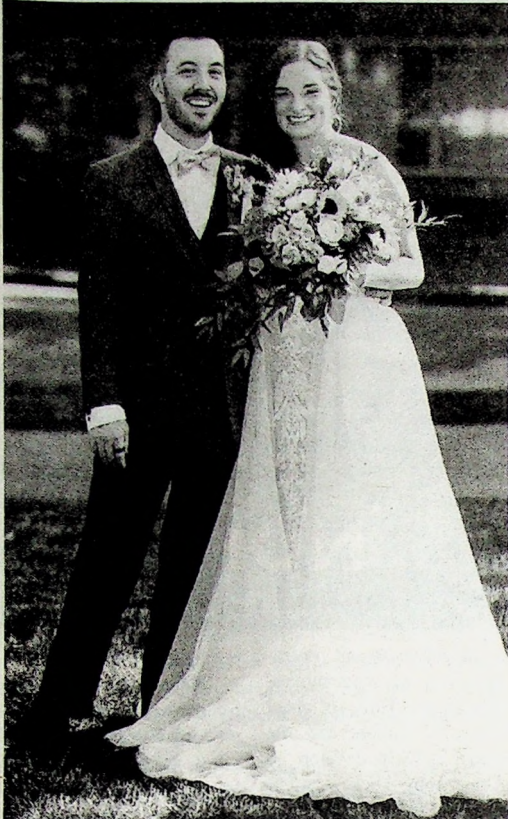

For more information about this event, email jhlady@ocln.org or go to this website: sec-interior.com

The Milton Public Library is located at 476 Canton Ave. To contact the Reference Department call (617) 898-4964.

"BARBIE" QUILT by Barbara Graceffa is among her 20 traditional and contemporary quilts that will be on display in September at Milton Public Library.

Jaclyn Bryson And Patrick Hoff Wed July 9

With the love and support of their families, Jaclyn Bryson and Patrick Hoff celebrated their marriage on July 9, 2022, at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst.

Jaclyn and Patrick originally planned their wedding for last year, but postponed for the safety of their friends and family. They have since been looking forward to holding their originally-planned celebration with all their guests.

The ceremony was held in the Old Chapel, and dinner and dancing followed in the Campus Center. The couple was joined by many family and friends, including their parents, Jim and Grace Bryson, and David and Karen Hoff.

The bridal party included Emily and Julia Bryson as the maids of honor, along with bridesmaids Charlotte Hoff, Margaret Hoff and Marie MacCune. Olivia Miller served as the woman of honor and Nick Canelas, Dan Kendricken and Graham Stanley were groomsmen.

Patrick and Jaclyn originally met working at the UMass student newspaper, the Daily Collegian, and couldn't imagine celebrating anywhere other than where they met.

Jaclyn is a teacher and Patrick is a reporter for a digital news publication. Once they graduated college, Jaclyn moved to South Carolina to start her teaching career, and Patrick soon followed. After their engagement, they decided to move back home, and they now live happily in Quincy. Together, they love craft beer, staying in and watching movies, and spoiling their beautiful cat, Persephone.

The couple recently honeymooned in New Orleans, where they enjoyed rekindling their love for southern cuisine. They are now happy to be home and look forward to a lifetime of adventures together!

Create Works Of Art With Flowers

By MELINDA MYERS

Preserve a few memories of this summer's garden or create gifts to share with family and friends. Pounding flowers onto fabric or paper is a fun and easy way to preserve the beauty of garden flowers.

Use watercolor or other rough surface paper when pounding on paper. Purchase ready to dye (RTD) or prepared for dying (PFD) fabric or prepare the fabric yourself. You'll find supplies and directions at most craft stores.

Prepare a space for pounding flowers onto paper or fabric. A large cutting board or piece of wood will protect the furniture below. Or better yet move this project outside onto the sidewalk or other surface that can't be damaged by the pounding.

Cover the surface with wax paper and secure with masking tape to prevent the flower color from soaking through onto the cutting board. Cut the fabric to size and secure it or the paper to the board with masking tape.

Gather a few of your favorite leaves and flowers. You will have great results from thin brightly colored petals and leaves. Consider starting with rose, daisy, geranium, petunia, and pansy petals although any flowers and leaves can work. Remove or reduce the size of the large center of cone-flowers, black-eyed Susans and similar blooms so they lay flat on the fabric. Or remove the petals, discard the center, and arrange as desired.

Remove any stems, sepals, or other plant parts you do not want to transfer. Then place the desired parts face down on the paper or fabric.

Once your design is set, cover with several layers of paper towel or another sheet of watercolor paper. Taping leaves and petals in place on fabric helps reduce the risk of petals moving during the pounding process.

Gently tap the leaves and flowers in place using the flat side of a hammer. Next, evenly hammer from one side of the design to the other, making sure to hit every part of each plant.

Lift the paper covering and remove the crushed flowers and leaves from the paper along with the tape from the fabric. Allow your design to dry and carefully brush off any remaining plant pieces.

Set the design on fabric using an iron set on the hottest setting without steam. This sets the colors but will not make it washable. Preserve the bright colors of your works of art on paper with a UV protective acrylic spray. Be sure to read and follow label directions and apply in a well-ventilated area.

Pounding flowers is a fun project for all ages. It is a simple way to transfer a plant's natural dye onto paper or fabric to create works of art, greeting cards and more. For more gardening projects visit MelindaMyers.com.

with

Marie & Suzie

By MARIE D'OLIMPIO and SUZIE FALCO

Nancy's Spinach And Bucatini

By MARIE

Today's recipe was sent to me by my daughter, Nancy. With just a couple of ingredients it is quite a tasty dish!

Directions and Ingredients

3 tablespoons olive oil
2 cloves of garlic
1 bag of fresh spinach
½ pound of Bucatini (which is a little thicker than spaghetti and one of our family favorites)

½ cup chicken stock
½ cup parmesan cheese
Salt and pepper to taste

Cook Bucatini according to directions; while cooking, in the hot oil sauté the garlic until done.

Add the chicken stock and spinach which will wilt and will be cooked very quickly.

Add the Bucatini and sprinkle with grated parmesan cheese.

If you prefer you can use a tablespoon of butter instead of cheese.

Strawberry Sheet Cake

By SUZIE

Strawberry Sheet Cake (Stefani Weis/Agent Nateur)

Ingredients

2 ¼ cup gluten free flour blend
¼ cup coconut oil (melted)
3 eggs
1 ½ cups organic full fat yogurt
½ cup maple syrup
¾ cup strawberry jam
2 ½ tsp baking powder
¾ tsp baking soda
1 ½ tsp vanilla extract
1 ½ tsp salt

Frosting: 1 ½ cups yogurt, 5 Tbls maple syrup, 1 tsp vanilla.

Preheat the oven to 350.

Generously grease a 9x13 inch cake pan.

Beat together the oil, yogurt, eggs, maple syrup, and vanilla.

Add the flour, baking soda, baking powder, and salt and mix until just combined.

Gently swirl in the strawberry jam, leaving large streaks and not fully incorporating the jam. Bake 30 minutes

Whisk the yogurt until it becomes really thick, around five to 10 minutes. It's really important to whisk the yogurt on its own first, before adding the maple syrup. Once it feels very thick and holds its shape, add the syrup and vanilla, and continue whisking for a further minute.

Once the cake is completely cooled, spread the frosting over it, top it with fresh strawberries. Slice and serve.

Eating healthy doesn't have to be boring! When you want cake, this cake does the trick. Healthy yogurt (you can substitute a dairy free one if you prefer) void of refined sugar (pure maple syrup is loaded with antioxidants and even Dr. Weill recommends this healthy natural sweetener) and of course, topped with strawberries.

Use a strawberry "spread" sweetened with apple or grape juice instead of sugar. There are several brands, one being "BioNature" brand fruit spreads.

This is wonderful to bring to a summer party!

Decorate the frosting with strawberries and mint leaves.

Movie Review: 'Nope'

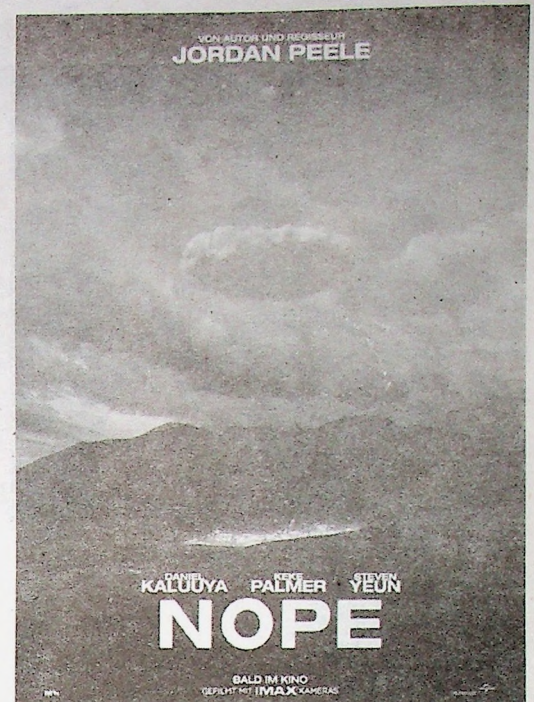

By BOB GARVER

I had to take a week off from the column three weeks ago when "Nope" opened at #1 at the domestic box office. While I'm not sorry that I gave all my attention to a wedding that weekend (shoutout to my Uncle John and new aunt Amy!), it is a shame that this movie didn't get a review until now.

The film follows O.J. (Daniel Kaluuya) and Em Haywood (Keke Palmer), sibling owners of a Hollywood horse ranch. The ranch has been in the Haywood family, for generations, but has been going through some tough times ever since the death of patriarch Otis (Keith David). O.J. knows how to handle the horses, but isn't socially graceful with the Hollywood people that hire the trained animals. Em is more fluent in the ways of Hollywood, but doesn't know the first thing about horses. The pair's skills are supposed to complement each other, but right now they're just failing on both fronts. There's an offer on the table from Jupe (Steven Yeun), a former child star with a traumatic past and a tacky amusement park, to buy the ranch, but O.J. is not ready to sign away his birthright.

As if the ranch didn't have enough problems, something is scaring the horses at night and causing them to run off. It must be neighbor kids having a goof, right. No, it's something from the sky. Commercial aircraft? No, that doesn't check out. Rational explanations fall away one by one until the movie confirms that it's a flying saucer. The Haywoods are bowled over by the sudden realization that mankind is not alone in the universe and immediately wonder how they can make money off of it.

Their plan is to obtain exclusive footage of the flying saucer, difficult because the spacecraft knocks out all electronics in the area. Tech guy Angel (Brandon Perea) tries to be of assistance, but what they really need is the calmness and professionalism of cinematographer Antlers Holst (Michael Wincott). Antlers and the vessel quickly develop an Ahab/Moby Dick relationship, and his interest in self-preservation slowly dissipates as he becomes more reckless in trying to get the perfect shot. Additional obstacles include the saucer's tendency to hide behind a cloud (the same cloud every time), opponents such as Jupe wanting to be the first to exploit the spectacle of the saucer, and the saucer's ability to abduct and digest anything and anyone it wants. Luckily O.J. figures out that if the saucer can eat, it can be trained, which plays to his experience working with horses.

Kaluuya gives the best performance in the movie during a sequence where all seems lost, yet he needs to keep his cool. There's the charismatic actor that won an Oscar for "Judas and the Black Messiah" two years ago. But the other performances aren't particularly memorable, and by the end of the movie, I was just thinking about how selfish and stupid everybody was for not seeking more help for this deadly situation where lives had already been lost.

"Nope" is the third horror outing for writer/director Jordan Peele. It's a solid effort, if maybe a step down from his previous two films. I daresay Peele's career is paralleling that of another horror visionary from two decades ago. Back in 1999, M. Night Shyamalan released the monumental "Sixth Sense" to amazing box office numbers and a rare Best Picture Oscar nomination for a horror movie... just like Peele did with "Get Out" in 2017. In 2000, Shyamalan released a respectable-but-less-successful follow-up that started with the letter U in "Unbreakable"... just like Peele did with "Us" in 2019. And in 2002, Shyamalan released the alien-invasion thriller "Signs"... and "Nope" certainly has a lot in common with that movie. Peele had better be careful, Shyamalan's fourth horror movie was "The Village," the film where critics really started to say that the former wunderkind had lost his touch.

Grade: B-

"Nope" is rated R for language throughout and some violence/bloody images. Its running time is 130 minutes.

Social Security Matters

Can My Wife Claim A Spouse Benefit First?

By RUSSELL GLOOR

National Social Security Advisor
at the AMAC Foundation, The Non-Profit Arm of the Association of Mature American Citizens

Dear Rusty: I have been getting Social Security since age 66. My wife turned 62 in June. We are thinking of taking her spouse benefits on my record since it would be higher than hers (we checked online). We began filling out the application but do not see a way to let them know we want her to receive spouse benefits and not her own. How do we do that? Signed: Trying to Apply

Dear Trying: You don't see that option because your wife doesn't have the option to collect only a spousal benefit from you without also claiming her own benefit. That option was eliminated by the Bipartisan Budget Act of 2015 for anyone born after January 1, 1954. So, if your wife claims any SS benefit now, she will be automatically deemed to be filing for both her own benefit (from her own work record) as well as her spousal benefit from you. She can't delay taking her own benefit when she claims. Your wife's benefit will consist of her own benefit plus, if she is entitled to one, a "spousal boost" to bring her payment up to her spousal entitlement and, claimed at age 62, both her own benefit and her spousal boost will be reduced. But there are some other factors to consider:

- If your wife is still working, she will be subject to Social Security's "earnings test" until she reaches her full retirement age (FRA) of 67. The earnings test limits how much your wife can earn from working and, if the limit ($19,560 for 2022) is exceeded, SS will take away benefits equal to $1 for every $2 she is over the limit. If her current work earnings are high enough, it could even disqualify her from receiving early SS benefits. The earnings limit lasts until your wife reaches her full retirement age.

- Your wife cannot collect her full benefits – 100% of her own benefit or 50% of your FRA benefit amount – unless she waits until her full retirement age (67) to claim. But whether she should even claim a spouse benefit at FRA should consider whether her own SS benefit, at maximum, will be more than her spouse benefit will be. Your wife's maximum spouse benefit (at age 67) will be 50% of your FRA benefit amount, but if she delays claiming past her FRA her own SS retirement benefit will continue to grow (at 8% per year) until she is 70. If your wife's personal age 70 benefit will be more than her spousal benefit from you, she may wish to consider forgoing her spouse benefit and waiting until age 70 to claim her own higher personal benefit. It's a question of which will benefit her most for the rest of her life, which is where her life-expectancy enters the picture. Generally, if your wife is in good health and expects at least average longevity (about 87 for a woman her current age), waiting until the highest available benefit (either her own or her spouse benefit) reaches maximum is usually a prudent choice.

- Your wife's survivor benefit as your widow may be a consideration as well. If her benefit as your survivor will be larger than any other benefit she is entitled to, then claiming her other benefits earlier may be smart. For example, if her benefit as your widow (100% of the benefit you were receiving at your death if claimed at or after her FRA) will be higher than either her maximum spousal benefit or her maximum personal benefit, then her best option may be to claim her retirement and spousal benefits earlier. How much earlier would depend on whether she is working and will exceed the earnings limit before age 67.

As you can see there are a number of factors for your wife to consider before claiming her Social Security, but she cannot claim only her spouse benefit at age 62 and permit her own benefit to continue growing.

bank that actively engages and supports the city's many different populations and organizations."

With the addition of Cheng, Bank of Canton's Quincy branch now has four bilingual staff members, with combined fluency in Mandarin, Cantonese, Vietnamese, Burmese and Taoshanese.

Before joining Bank of Canton, Cheng was a client account manager at a Braintree consulting firm, overseeing 55 client relationships. Prior to that, she worked at a regional bank branch in downtown Quincy and at a property management firm in New York.

"Through my past work with Linda, I know her to be a top-notch banker and customer service representative in Quincy," said Thi (Ty) Tu, branch manager at Bank of Canton. "Her experience working in client service roles – both business and personal – will be a great asset to our team here at 60 McGrath Highway."

Cheng holds a B.A. in Asian Language and Literature from the University of Iowa. In her free time, she enjoys snowboarding, badminton and traveling.

RMV Cautions Customers To Be Aware Of Unofficial Third-Party Websites And Text/Phishing Scams

The Massachusetts Registry of Motor Vehicles (RMV) is reminding customers to use only Mass.Gov/RMV for Commonwealth of MA Registry information or to perform many transactions, including when trying to renew a license or registration.

Customers should beware of text messages or emails which claim to be from MassDOT or the RMV, as these communications often are dangerous phishing scams and not official MassDOT/RMV sources. These fraudulent texts and emails may include links, which do not lead to MassDOT or RMV websites and customers should not follow the links nor reply to these messages with personal information.

"Customers should use just one website to ensure they are using the official Massachusetts Registry of Motor Vehicles website and that site is Mass.Gov/RMV," said Registrar of Motor Vehicles Colleen Ogilvie. "Customers should never respond to texts or emails asking for personal information and should avoid using any unofficial third-party websites claiming to assist with RMV services."

Customers may use these helpful hints to determine whether the website they are using is the official site for the Massachusetts Registry of Motor Vehicles.

- Massachusetts uses the abbreviation "RMV." Any website using the phrase "Department of Motor Vehicles," or "DMV," should be avoided.

- Do not follow links from mobile text messages claiming to be the Massachusetts Department of Transportation (MassDOT) or the Registry of Motor Vehicles (RMV); always use the official Mass.Gov links.

- Make sure the Commonwealth's seal is located somewhere on the page. This will help ensure that it is an official government website. If it cannot be found, customers should leave the site immediately.

- Always read the fine print and look for key phrases such as "for-profit" or "privately owned" at the top or bottom of the third-party websites which may note that they are not affiliated with the Commonwealth.

- The Registry will never charge a customer to check the status of a license, registration, or title. If the site requires payment to access this information, it is an unsecured mimic site.

- At Mass.Gov/RMV, a customer will never be charged to access Registry forms and information, but unofficial third-party sites may charge for this service. Their information is also not guaranteed to be accurate.

- The Registry never charges for address changes. If a customer uses a mimic site, the change cannot be guaranteed to have actually gone through.

Any information on these third-party websites may not be accurate, and any details or payments that customers submit may not be secure. The RMV is not responsible for the content or actions taken by these sites. For more information on the dangers of third-party services, visit the Mass.Gov/RMV.

On Saturday, Aug. 13, at approximately 6 a.m., officers were dispatched to 230 Washington St., the 7-Eleven Convenience Store on a report of a female party assaulting a clerk.

The reporting party stated that the female was throwing things around the store. As officers were responding to the scene, dispatch notified them that the female party may have a knife. They also reported that they could hear her yelling in the background of the 9-1-1 call.

Upon arrival, Officer S. Murphy met with the store clerk at the front entrance. He was holding a large set of shrub cutters in his hand. He identified himself to Officer Murphy as the caller and stated he took the cutters from the female who was behind him.

Officer Murphy ordered her out of the store. The female was yelling and screaming. Officer Murphy asked the female if she had a knife and she stated, "No." A search of the female confirmed that she was not in possession of a knife. The female continued to yell and scream about things that did not make sense.

Officer Murphy then went and spoke with the reporting party. He was very shaken up and was upset over the incident. After a minute or so, he calmed down and began to tell Officer Murphy what happened. He stated that he was working behind the counter when the female came into the store holding the large shrub clippers. The female ran from the front entrance of the store to behind the counter. The employee told her to stop.

The female then swung the shrub clippers in an overhead throwing motion at the employee. The employee raised his hands and grabbed the female by the right wrist, stopping her from hitting him. He then took the shrub clippers and called 9-1-1 for assistance. After he took the shrub clippers, the female began to throw items around the store. She followed the employee around the store, yelling at him, while he spoke to the 9-1-1 dispatcher.

The 49-year-old homeless female was placed under arrest and transported to the Quincy Police Station where she was charged with assault by means of a dangerous weapon and disorderly person. The hedge clippers were properly logged into evidence. Management agreed to forward any surveillance footage of the incident to Officer Murphy for court purposes.

Great work!

Another Job Well Done: On Tuesday, Aug. 16th, at around 5:30 p.m., officers were dispatched to a residence for a breaking and entering in progress.

The homeowner called the police and said that his neighbor witnessed a man break into his house. As officers were driving to the residence, Quincy Police Communications informed them that the neighbor was now confronting the suspect.

Upon arrival, officers observed the suspect outside the residence yelling at the neighbor (who had contacted the homeowner). Officers immediately separated the individuals to figure out what was going on. The neighbor told officers that the suspect walked through his neighbor's side yard and entered the residence. The neighbor resides a few yards down the street from the victim. He had a clear view of the victim's residence from where he was located. The neighbor was suspicious of this activity and contacted the victim/homeowner.

The victim informed him that nobody should be at his house and that he was contacting the police. The neighbor then went to confront the suspect. As soon as the neighbor entered the house, the suspect sprinted out the back door. The suspect was carrying a wooden pole and began swinging it, hitting the neighbor in his side. The struggle eventually went outside until the police showed up. The neighbor sustained a large welt on the side of his stomach from the suspect assaulting him with the pole. He denied medical attention.

Officer McNeil placed the suspect into handcuffs. Officers asked the suspect what had occurred. The suspect told Officer Klimas that he thought that he was at his aunt's house on Bigelow Street. Bigelow Street is located approximately three miles from where officers were located. He denied that the entire altercation occurred.

The victim/homeowner arrived on scene and brought Officer McNeil and Officer Klimas inside his home. The screen door was knocked off of its tracks and was resting on the deck. Several items were out of place, but nothing that was missing.

The 43-year-old male from Weymouth was transported to the Quincy Police Department where he was booked for breaking and entering in the daytime and assault and battery with a dangerous weapon.

NEVER confront a suspect during a breaking and entering. This situation could have gone horribly wrong. Always contact 9-1-1 and report what you are seeing.

If you can watch from a safe distance, provide a description of the suspect(s) to 9-1-1 operators.

BBB Scam Alert: How To Avoid Ticketmaster Lookalike Scams

By BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU

Concerts are back! Bands are touring again, and ticket spending is back to pre-COVID-19 levels. This fact hasn't gone unnoticed by scammers, though. Recent reports to BBB Scam Tracker indicate that con artists are preying on concertgoers by pretending to represent popular ticket seller Ticketmaster.

How the scam works

You are looking to buy tickets to an upcoming concert or need to transfer tickets for a show that was postponed due to COVID-19. You do an internet search for your question, which brings up results for Ticketmaster. You click through to the website, and everything looks normal.

The website prompts you to enter your personal information and a credit card number. However, as soon as you complete a transaction, you notice some suspicious activity. You might receive tickets with someone else's name on them, or you may never receive your tickets at all. In other cases, you get the tickets, but the site charges you a much higher rate than advertised.

Upon closer inspection, you realize you were not on the Ticketmaster site at all! It was a lookalike site with a similar name. When you call the customer service number, they are either unreachable, unhelpful, or downright aggressive.

to be filed. Reporting party found the credit cards dropped in the lot.

VANDALISM/PROPERTY (scratched vehicle), 12:57 p.m., Quincy Shore Drive. Happened between Aug. 6 and Aug. 7. Reporting party states the building has security footage of the suspect and seems to have multiple incidents with other vehicles as well. Reporting party's car seems to be grazed with a brick on the front passenger side of the car. Officer will file.

LARCENY (catalytic converter), 4:28 p.m., Granite Street. Catalytic converter and two oxygen sensors missing from Honda CRV. Report.

SATURDAY, AUG. 13

BREAKING AND ENTERING/ATTEMPT (past), 10:07 p.m., Doane Street. Damage to the front door, blood on the front door next to damage. Reporting party thinks someone tried to force their way in while she was asleep. Report to be filed.

SUNDAY, AUG. 14

ASSAULT AND BATTERY (passing out), 1:09 a.m., Siro's Restaurant, 307 Victory Rd. Brewster notified. No EMS needed. Officer states it was an assault and battery. Party was not forthcoming with any information and doesn't want to pursue any charges. Cleared by EMS and has been sent on way in a Uber.

VANDALISM/PROPERTY (two slashed tires), 7:57, Hill at Furnace Brook, 308 Quarry St. Reporting party states that they have a video image of the person who slashed the tires on his truck a few days ago. Believes it may be the same person. Report.

MONDAY, AUG. 15

One ticket buyer reported this experience: "They sent me two tickets with someone else's name on them, and they also charged me three times the amount [of] the ticket price. I have no way to get a refund and no customer service to contact (except by email) because they do not answer their phone."

How to avoid event ticket scams

• Purchase from the venue. The safest way to purchase event tickets is to go directly through the venue, either in person or through their official website. The venue's website may point you to Ticketmaster or another provider to complete your purchase, but you can be sure of having the correct website URL.

• Check out the seller. If you purchase from a third-party company, make sure they are a reputable ticket vendor or reseller, not a ticket scalper. Check reviews on BBB.org.

• Watch out for fake websites. Take a close look at the website's URL to ensure there are no slight misspellings. Impostors like to make lookalike websites with domain names that are similar to well-known business names. This makes them hard to spot.

• Use a safe payment method. Always make online purchases with your credit card. You can dispute fraudulent charges and have a better chance of getting your money back.

VANDALISM/PROPERTY (Nissan Altima), 8:58 a.m., Billings Street. Construction company working next door dropped wood on reporting party's car. Dented side of gray Nissan Altima parked in driveway. Truck is on scene that dropped wood out of truck and hit caller's car. Party was advised.

BREAKING AND ENTERING/PAST, 9:06 a.m., School Street. Broken front door, cash missing from register. Report.

VANDALISM/PROPERTY (exit gate damaged), 11 a.m., Hancock Parking Area Garage, 25 Cottage Ave. Male in the QPD lobby now. Reporting party has plate of car that hit exit parking garage gate and has video footage. Case number provided.

TUESDAY, AUG. 16

LARCENY (money), 9:40 a.m., Myrtle Street. In QPD lobby. Wants to file criminal charges against a prior employee. Report and complaints to be filed.

LARCENY (jewelry), 10:19 a.m., Homer Road. Caller has contractors working in his house. Now has jewelry missing. Report to be filed.

LARCENY (wallet), 1:11 p.m., Elmwood Park. Reporting party believes she lost her wallet (with IDs, various cards) at the Braintree Mall. MA driver's license, three vaccine cards, various credit cards. Vaccine cards recovered in Milton. BOA card used in Boston. Reporting party advised. Case number provided.

BREAKING AND ENTERING/PROGRESS (dwelling), 5:19 p.m., Walker Street. Arrest made. Reporting party states he saw an unknown male break into his neighbor's house. Another call received. One in custody for breaking and entering day time and ABDW. Arrest made.

WEDNESDAY, AUG. 17

LARCENY (ongoing), 12:52 p.m., Furnace Avenue. In QPD lobby. Stole plants from exterior of building. Reporting party is landlord. Report to be filed.

Board Grants 13 Requests

but each performer could potentially bring a small amplifier with them.

Also approved during the meeting was the request of GT Foods Inc. d/b/a Rosie's Pizzeria for a common victualler license for the premises at 550 Adams St., formerly home to Unchained Pizza. The restaurant will be open from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Thomas Garefalakis, the manager of the pizzeria, said his cousin owns a Braintree eatery with the same name. The Quincy location will have a "nice simple menu" consisting of pizza, pasta, paninis and salads, he said.

The board also granted a common victualler license to Boba & Bites LLC d/b/a Mochinut and Onezo for the premises at 19 Billings Rd., currently home to The Block II. The new shop's hours are 10 a.m. to midnight.

Russell Chin, the attorney representing manager Emily Huang at the hearing, said the storefront is presently home to a bubble tea shop. The new store will continue to serve bubble tea and will also offer mochi doughnuts.

Also approved during the meeting was the request of DG Asian Tea Corporation d/b/a Mango Mango Desserts for a common victualler license for the premises at 13 Beale St. The storefront was once home to Brigham's.

The new shop will specialize in ice cream and other desserts. It will be open from 11:30 a.m. to 10:30 p.m.

Likewise approved at the meeting was the request of Stran Promotional Services for a one-day liquor license for a corporate event on Thursday, Sept. 29, from 5 to 9 p.m. at 2 Heritage Dr.

The event is for the company's clients and is not open to the public.

Also approved at the meeting was the request of the Adams Heights Men's Club, 63 Bower Rd., for an extension of premises for its club all-alcoholic beverages license for an outdoor event on Saturday, Aug. 27, from 1 to 5 p.m. The event is a fundraiser for St. Jude.

The board also approved the request of Automotive Repair Facility Inc. d/b/a Vinna Automotive Service for a motor II license for the premises at 10 Willard St. The facility already had a garage/repair license and was seeking to add second-hand car sales for up to five vehicles at a time.

Also approved was the request of Prestige Car Wash for a gasoline/repair license for the premises at 839 Hancock St. (currently Hancock Street Touchless Carwash) due to a change in ownership. Its hours will be 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Ward 5 Councillors Charles Phelan Jr. asked that the new owners repair and maintain the fence around the perimeter of the site, which abuts several residences.

Also approved was the request of Keezer Automotive Repair LLC d/b/a Tower Automotive for a garage/repair license for the premises at 570 Adams St. due to a change in ownership. No changes in operations are planned, except the shop will no longer sell second-hand cars.

The board also granted the request of Quincy Gas & Service Inc. d/b/a Egan's Sunoco for a gasoline/repair and manager's license for the premises at 645 Adams St. due to a change in ownership. The new owner does not plan to make any changes to the business.

The final approval granted was the request of Packaging Center Inc. d/b/a Stop & Shop, 65 Newport Ave, for a change in manager for its off-premises beer and wine license to Daniel Therrien.

During the Aug. 16 meeting, the board also held a hearing to review operations at Finest Auto Sales at 519 Quincy Ave.

City Clerk Nicole Crispo, the chairperson of the board, said Det. Paul Brown of the Quincy Police Department received numerous complaints, concerning the car dealership. Brown met with owner Alvin Kasule and a memorandum of understanding was reached between both sides, Crispo said. Additional complaints about the business could result in the revocation of its license.

"This hearing serves as official notice, as outlined in the memo of understanding, that if the city is notified of any additional consumer complaints at Finest Auto, a subsequent hearing will be called at which time disciplinary action, including potential suspension and/or revocation of the license, may be recommended," Crispo said.

"We want the best here in Quincy. We want our residents to be served and we want our businesses to do well. For that, we're all going to work together."

Kasule's attorney, Pamela Salpoglou, said her client has taken steps to address concerns about the business.

"My client has trained his employees. He has changed the nature of his business. He is no longer in the business of selling older, higher mileage, inexpensive vehicles," she said, and doing so "will result in less consumer complaints."

his job, or give up? Will his employer help him succeed, or get rid of him? Jonathan will ask audiences to consider what we really believe in America: about adults with disabilities, about employment, and about the creature comforts of a retail economy.

The cast of Jonathan features Sam Fidler (Jonathan Gibbs), Laura DeGiacomo (Alice Gibbs), Bill Moo-tos (Stewart Samuels), Kara Chu Nelson (Kara Powers), Jyoti Daniere (Phyllis Simpson), Lille Riesing (Ensemble), Alyse Clinton (Ensemble), and Kean Petrello (Ensemble).

"Having just wrapped up our very first Boston New Works Festival in June, it seems like the perfect kickoff to our season to be featuring a fully produced, brand new play by a local playwright as part of our Mainstage Season," said Producer Sharman Altshuler. "This show has weathered not one, but two COVID-related cancellations, but this amazing team has endured it all, and are excited to finally bring this play to the stage. It will be well worth the wait," said Altshuler.

Steven V. Barrett Memorial Scholarship Award Recipients

The family of Steven V. Barrett announces the 2021-2022 Steven V. Barrett Memorial Scholarship Award Recipients.

Five Quincy High School students were awarded the following scholarships for the 2021-2022 school year:

- Baseball - Coleman Ross
- Golf - Dylan Green
- Hockey - Joseph Hen-

nessy and Timothy Kelly
• School and Community Service - Elise Roche

The Steven V. Barrett Memorial Scholarship Fund was established shortly after his untimely death. Steven was a 1995 graduate of Quincy High School and a three-sport captain his senior year in golf, baseball and hockey. He graduated from Westfield State College in 1999 with a degree in criminal justice. That summer he began working for the Nantucket Police Department and was tragically killed in a car accident on the island of Nantucket.

The scholarships were established in Steven's memory and the Barrett Family continues to honor others in his memory each year.

Ask Barbara Graceffa: Furniture Shopping And The New Traditional Style

I haven't been furniture shopping in many years. During my recent trip to Ethan Allen, I was very surprised. I did not see the "traditional" traditional style I have come to know. Has traditional style changed? Mimi

You may remember the hallmarks of traditional style with a strong sense of history, rooms full of heirlooms and knick knacks, with rich wood furniture and geometric, damask, toile, and floral fabrics. With crystal sculptures, floral arrangements in China vases, fussy window treatments, crown molding and other architectural features, and a refined color palette, this was the old traditional— a real formal, symmetrical, and predictable look.

Today's new traditional style is a pretty blend of old and new, a hybrid of traditional and contemporary.

Instead of a matching set of dark heavy furniture from the same era, today's style includes furniture that still has the classic lines but instead complements each other but doesn't necessarily match in style (or period) and has minimal ornamentation.

Your mother's traditional multi-layered velvet floor-to-ceiling window treatments adorned with boxed cornices or lots of trims and tie backs have been replaced with simpler straight drapes and/or decorative shades.

In the new traditional living room, artwork has changed as well. One large, framed painting was de rigeur in the past. Today, gallery walls or the use of several medium pieces of art - loosely defined to include quilted wall hangings, collections of hats, mirrors, or plates- placed together are more commonplace.

Although oriental rugs still played a huge role, new traditional flooring includes animal hides and geometric print or sisal rugs.

Few people have one true decorating style. Traditional mixes well with coastal, rustic, and Mediterranean styles. If you introduce more contemporary design, it becomes transitional or pepper in some Scandinavian or bohemian pieces, for example, and it turns eclectic.

Because traditional style is both elegant and comforting at the same time, it appeals to all ages and personalities. It's timeless, just updated. So grab some home magazines and wrap up in a luxurious throw in front of the fireplace and plan your new "new traditional" home.

Message From Register Of Deeds On IT Staff

By WILLIAM O'DONNELL
Norfolk County Register Of Deeds

The IT dispute of not having a direct report Information Technology (IT staff) began back on June 30, 2021 when Norfolk County Commissioners Peter Collins and Joe Shea voted not to sign a Registry personnel paper. The understaffing issue in Information Technology (IT) that began with this unsound decision continues today. There was an Attorney General's Office finding that the County Commissioners violated the open meeting law in the meeting involving a "hiring freeze" that was used as a pretext to prevent the Registry from filling an approved and budgeted position in the Registry of Deeds budget.

This is an update to the Notice sent out after the May 11, 2022 vote to eliminate all direct report to the Register Information Technology (IT) staff at the Norfolk Registry of Deeds.

The Norfolk Registry of Deeds should have an onsite direct report IT staff to the Register and Registry workers. This has worked exceptionally well dating back to the 1980s. Many of you who voiced your disagreement with Commissioners Collins and Shea did not get a response or answer to the letters, petitions and emails you sent. I hope you get answers from the incumbent Commissioner Peter Collins who has been part of the County for 28 years dating back to 1994 who is up for election this year. The other Commissioner Joe Shea in the 2 to 1 vote has been around for seven years.

We all get there are appropriate times to make changes. Look at all the modernization changes made over the years at the Registry of Deeds because there was an on-site direct report IT staff. Well not having an on-site direct report IT staff is not a smart change.

The lack of transparency and getting answers from Norfolk County as this "Consolidated County IT Department" transition takes place continues. Promises that there will be a permanent County CIO hired by mid-July have not been kept.

This is not government working like it should. This is

Legislature Legalizes Sports Betting

The Massachusetts Legislature has passed an Act regulating sports wagering authorizing and regulating sports betting in the Commonwealth.

The legislation authorizes the Massachusetts Gaming Commission to grant in-person licenses at gaming establishments, including casinos, racetracks and simulcast facilities, as well as mobile licenses through mobile applications or digital platforms. According to lawmakers, the legislation will generate an estimated $60 million in annual tax revenue for Massachusetts, in addition to collecting up to $70 to $80 million in initial licensing fees, which must be renewed every five years. The revenue collected will be distributed to municipalities, and for economic, workforce, education, and public health priorities.

"I'm incredibly proud that today, and after years of House-led efforts to authorize legal sports wagering in Massachusetts, the Legislature has acted to bring the immense economic benefits of a legal sports betting industry to the Commonwealth," said House Speaker Ronald Mariano (D-Quincy). "Legalizing wagers on both professional and collegiate sports will create jobs and bring tens of millions of dollars in annual tax revenue to Massachusetts. I want to thank Chairs Michlewitz and Parisella, all the conferees and my colleagues in the House, as well as our partners in the Senate for recognizing the incredible economic opportunity that legalized sports betting presents."

"This legislation puts the Commonwealth on equal footing with many of the surrounding states that have already legalized sports betting," said state Rep. Tackey Chan (D-Quincy). "With the passage of this bill, we are now able to keep Massachusetts dollars in our Commonwealth and implement strong consumer protection measures."

"The complexities of legalizing sports betting appropriately took time to finalize," said state Sen. John Keenan (D-Quincy). "I appreciated the input I received from constituents on this topic and am confident that we now have a framework in place that will allow this industry to move forward in a way that is responsible and beneficial for the Commonwealth."

"After years of hard work, the House has led the way for the legalization of sports betting in Massachusetts. When done correctly, the implementation of sports betting can be an economic driver and a great benefit to the taxpayers, as well as our cities and towns," said state Rep. Bruce Ayers (D-Quincy). "This bill accomplishes the legalization in a responsible manner, with important provisions and protections, while allowing our residents to channel their passion for sports into a safe system that benefits our economy, and not that of neighboring states."

"An Act regulating sports wagering" includes a 15 percent tax on in-person wagers and a 20 percent tax on mobile wagering. The legislation creates the Workforce Investment Trust Fund & the Youth Development and Achievement Fund which will receive 17.5 percent and 1 percent, respectively, of the revenue generated by the taxes and licensing fees. The rest of the funds will go to the existing Gaming Local Aid Fund (27.5 percent), the Public Health Trust Fund (9 percent) and the General Fund (45 percent.)

• The funds in the Workforce Investment Trust Fund will be used to develop and strengthen workforce opportunities for low-income communities and vulnerable youth and young adults, including to promote stable employment and wage growth.

• The funds in the Youth Development and Achievement Fund will provide financial assistance to students enrolled in and pursuing a program of higher education, and for after school and out of school activities.

The legislation will also allow betting on college sports, with the exception of Massachusetts schools, unless they are participating in a tournament. People must be 21 years old or older to bet. As directed through this legislation, the Gaming Commission will be conducting a study into the feasibility of allowing retail locations to operate sports wagering kiosks.

After passage by the House and Senate, an Act regulating sports wagering was signed by Gov. Charlie Baker on Aug. 10th.

"The Quincy Police and Norfolk District Attorney's office extend our condolences to Mr. Wiggins' family and loved ones," officials said in a statement.

Quincy and State Police worked through the early morning hours of Aug. 18, probing the shooting and conducting interviews. State Police Crime Scene Services Section responded to process the scene for any potential forensic evidence.

Investigators said they do not believe there is any ongoing threat to neighbors in the area.

The building is within the Elevation apartment complex at Crown Colony.

The officers who responded to the scene encountered the victim with obvious gunshot wounds in the area of the stairwell leading from the apartment building's parking area to the residences, the statement said. He was taken to an area hospital for emergency treatment but did not survive.

Investigators later identified the victim as Jordan Wiggins, age 32. He was a resident of the apartment building at 5 Crown Dr., where the fatal shooting took place.

Fall 2027 Opening Eyed For New Squantum School

Mulvey said he expects the Squantum Elementary School will be replaced, not renovated.

"The condition of Squantum is so bad there really is no alternative but to replace," he said. "I know that's part of the study that will have to happen but right now, based on previous experience dealing with Quincy High and Central and South-West, the option for Squantum, at least in my opinion, is a new school, not a renovated school."

The new school could likely be built behind the existing school, the superintendent said, similar to how the new South-West Middle School was built behind the Sterling Middle School, which remained open during construction.

"I would imagine, without getting too far ahead of the planners, we would probably build the new school behind the existing school while the current school operates as a school, similar to South-West," Mulvey said. "At some point there would be a transition of the kids to the new school, and then the taking down of the old school."

The new school will also likely be more than one-story tall. As part of the ongoing process, the MSBA recommended a facility with space for 335 students, roughly the school's current enrollment. The city appealed that recommendation based on the current enrollment in the school system and the growth of the city's housing stock and, based on that appeal, the MSBA increased the size of the new facility to 380 students.

"In my opinion I think we're going to need a multilevel school, based on the student population we are approved by the state to build for," Mulvey said.

As the city continues to work with the MSBA, Mulvey said the next step would be bringing on an architect to help design the new facility.

"Our next step right now is to identify an architect, a designer, for the school, so that's the next step. But we're looking at probably five years from September, so probably 2027, something like that," he said when asked about the timeline for the new school to open.

Plans for the new building could be finalized in 18 to 24 months, Mulvey said, and construction is expected to take three years.

"I would expect the plans to be done probably in a year and a half, because it's going to take three years of solid construction to get it open, so that would give us six months to play with. I would say a year and a half to two years for plans, and then three years to construct it," he said.

"It is a complicated site. It's not like we have a vacant piece of property that we can just build from scratch. There has to be soil testing and site drilling to make sure that back lot is suitable for a building; I think it is, but they have to do all that and meet all the environmental regulations and all that."

"And then after figuring out what the footprint can look like, figuring out what the actual building will look like and how big it is. Then we're going to be striving to make it net zero emissions and all that."

"There is a lot to factor in so the plans will take some time. That's why I'm thinking a year and a half to two years probably for planning."

After the Squantum Elementary School, Mulvey said the next focus will likely be on building a new elementary school in West Quincy. The city purchased the former home of St. Mary School on Crescent Street in 2019, paying $2.7 million for the 1.9-acre site.

"In addition to Squantum, I know the mayor and School Committee are interested in looking at the St. Mary's property, which the city acquired a few years back, to potentially put an elementary school there. Obviously, we have to do an analysis on what size building we could build there and what classes we could bring over there," Mulvey said.

"Is it a K to 3 – probably based on spacing – or K to 4 or K to 5. K to 5 would probably be pushing it because of the footprint of the St. Mary School and what we can fit on it – again, we have to have parking as well as facility space for the kids. We'd probably be looking at that next for an elementary school to help with the student population."

The enrollment in the school district, he added, will surpass 10,000 at the start of the upcoming school year.

"We are going to break 10,000 students this September," Mulvey said. "I think we're actually over it now, we're at 10,060, but we're factoring in some move outs, so I think we'll be stable at around 10,000 come Sept. 1, something like that."

"We may well be over that – we could go up to 10,100 – but just guestimating, we'll definitely be in the 10,000 range, which we haven't seen in a long time. So, the student population is increasing in Quincy."

Aside from the Squantum Elementary School, Mulvey said the most of city's older school buildings remain in good shape and the district will be "looking at continuous renovation as opposed to replacing them."

"The thing with the old school is they may be old, but they are built really well, and they last. The materials they used back then are probably better than they are today," Mulvey said. "They are just solid schools."

Probe Into Fatal Shooting Continues

By SCOTT JACKSON

Investigators continue to probe the killing of a 32-year-old Quincy man who was fatally shot inside his apartment building late last week.

Norfolk District Attorney Michael Morrissey on Monday said the investigation into the Aug. 18 shooting remains "very active."

"There are a lot of people from the State Police and Quincy Police working on it," he added.

The Quincy Police Department was called to the area of 5 Crown Dr. around 12:40 a.m. on Aug. 18, Morrissey and Quincy Police Chief Paul Keenan said in a statement issued later that

Temple Beth Sholom Welcomes Rabbi Joshua Grossman

Temple Beth Sholom of Nantasket held an installation ceremony Aug. 14 in which the congregation welcomed Rabbi Joshua Grossman as their newest rabbi. Rabbi Joshua joined his father, Rabbi David Grossman as a spiritual leader for Temple Beth Sholom.

When Rabbi David placed his hands on Rabbi

Joshua's shoulders to give him the priestly blessing, it was a very touching moment for the congregation. The Rabbi Grossman will share rabbinic and pastoral duties over the period of three years. Both rabbis were cantors prior to becoming rabbis and the Temple Community looks forward to enjoying their beautiful voices, both separately and together, especially during the upcoming High Holiday Services. The service was followed by an outdoor, kosher barbecue catered by Zayde's of Canton with live entertainment provided by Mark Elsner and Paul Weller.

Upcoming events:

• Friday, Aug. 26 at 7 p.m. Kabbalat Shabbat Services, followed by an Oneg Shabbat at Temple Israel, 9 Haddassah Way, Hull.

• Saturday, Aug. 27 at 9:30 a.m. Shabbat morning Services at 9:30 a.m. under the tent at Temple Israel, 9 Haddassah Way, Hull.

Houghs Neck Garden Club Pot Luck Dinner Sept. 14

The Houghs Neck Garden Club is starting up its new year with the Annual Pot Luck Dinner on Wednesday, Sept. 14th. This special event is for members only.

The Beautification Committee has been busy all summer fighting against a long drought. Some plants have been lost and club members will be actively replacing what they can. It's very encouraging to see how many people in the area wave and call out encouragement as members work. Thanks!

We recently got a watering system built into the Leo Kelly Park, which has saved a lot of the trees and shrubs that we were in danger of losing. This is an example of where club money goes. The Houghs Neck Garden Club looks forward to a fun and interesting year ahead.

As always, new members are welcome. Interested in joining? Call or text Joanne Bythrow at 617-347-3901.

The Houghs Neck Garden Club is a member of the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts and a 501C3 non-profit organization.

News From The Seaside Social Club

The Seaside Social Club at the Houghs Neck Congregational Church, 310 Manet Ave, Quincy, announces its opening program for the year and a special historical series which will be offered throughout the year.

As the club begins its 77th year, members want to share a bit of information about the club which has been active since 1945. Although part of the Houghs Neck Congregational Church, members do not have to be affiliated with the church. Women from across the community are welcome to join.

The club aims to provide socialization, entertainment, education, and good will. The club meets on the second Tuesday of each month September through December and March through June. Business meetings are generally at 6:30 p.m. and programs start at 7 p.m. Although the members must be female, most programs are open to everyone in the community, male or female. Dues are just $20 for the year and support the work of the club.

The opening meeting will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 13, and will also serve as the kick-off for a series of talks/slide shows on historical Houghs Neck. The September talk, presented by Houghs Neck historian Patti Williams, will be: Shipbreaking at Nut Island, 1885-1903.

Between 1885 and 1903, 18 steamships were broken up at Nut Island in Houghs Neck. Shipbreaking is an industry that has grown up around shipping and the sea since earliest times. In the late 1800s it involved breaking up wooden ships in order to recycle the iron, copper and other metal used in their construction. The superstructure of the ship would be dismantled and what was left of the ship would be burned. Some of the parts of the ship, such as the pilot house, cabins, railings, doors and timbers were sold off.

In Houghs Neck many of these parts were recycled into cottages. Even today homeowners find tongue-in-groove sheathing and large timbers from these ships that have been incorporated into their homes. Come and learn about the ships, the ship-breaking process and see photos of some of the cottages made from parts of these ships.

Mark your calendar for Sept. 13 and pick up a schedule of the Houghs Neck historical talks for the year which will not be on our meeting night in future months and a schedule of the Seaside Social Club programs. Bring a friend, the club looks forward to welcoming you.

It is the Fourth week of the, "Quest - The Awakened Traveler," a five-week summer sermon series adapted from Worship Design Studio at Quincy Point Congregational Church, 444 Washington St.

Sunday, Aug. 28 the topic is "Returning Home." Worship begins at 10 a.m. (live streamed or in the sanctuary).

Historic Quincy Not Improving In Appearance

Jim Ryan, in his recent article (letter to the editor), hit a point which always annoys me.

When residents of Squantum say where they are from, the response is never Quincy, but Squantum. I suppose they are a causeway apart, but the point is obvious! They are not being over run by ugly condos.

Welcome to Quincy, as you come across the Neponset Bridge certainly is not an inviting scene. The development across from NQHS looks like an industrial park. We the residents of Quincy are fed up with the overbuilding and traffic concerns. What is happening to the water and sewer demands? Our historic city is not improving in appearance. The people enjoying the financial benefits seem to be the only ones smiling!

Last week an article (letter to the editor) by Gene Lee caught my attention also. Other strikes which should be pointed out are a city of this size does not have a hospital. The mayor has not welcomed those who have tried to address this with him. His stance on the Long Island Bridge is totally unreasonable. (Another Squantum issue?).

We the residents of Quincy are not happy with many of Mayor Koch's decision, but he does not seem to notice.

America's Problems Not New

America's current problems go back to at least the Revolutionary War.

As Nathaniel Philbrick outlines in his book Valiant Ambition, "The real enemy was not Great Britain but those Americans who sought to undercut their fellow citizens commitment to one another."

That "The greatest danger to America's future came from self-serving opportunism masquerading as patriotism."

Change the century and you have a good description of Congress and our government.

Central Baptist Church Celebrating Centennial

By SCOTT JACKSON

Quincy's Central Baptist Church is celebrating its 100th anniversary this year, a milestone the church's pastor said it means a lot for church and its members.

The church, now located on Washington Street in Quincy Center, was founded in September 1922. Two churches, both of which were established in the 1880s, merged to form Central Baptist Church that month.

"Central Baptist Church...came into existence because of the merger of two older churches - Calvary Baptist Church, which was here in Quincy, and the Swedish Baptist Church, which was also here in Quincy," said the church's pastor, the Rev. Tyler Mitchell, in a recent interview.

"The two coexisted here but because of the growing city and the small populations of both churches, and being people that believed in the same faith, standing on the same principles, the two congregations decided to come together and form one united church. Out of that, Central Baptist Church was born in 1922."

Mitchell came to the United States from Liberia in 2000. He and his wife, Jebah, became members of Central Baptist Church in 2013. He became the church's interim pastor in 2015 and its full-time pastor two years later.

In the recent interview, Mitchell called the 100th anniversary a meaningful occasion for the church and its members.

"It means a whole lot," he said of the milestone. "It means that people who have remained members of this church over time have gotten to know the lord in a real earnest and true way and so they have been anchored here. To see them come through a hundred full years means a lot."

"With the passing of time, I've realized that it's not a perfect church," he added. "They do not know everything in the word of God, but they've learned a lot about what it means to be a Christian. What it means to be a child of God. What it means to serve God. They have committed themselves to that way of life, to follow God. As a matter of fact, on Sunday, our message is entitled Rooted in Love."

"These people in time have come to actually know the love of God because they have experienced it in a real, personal way, and they do show it. Turning 100 means we have in this community people who are grounded in the lord Jesus Christ and want to reach out and tell that good news to others."

The church plans to stay at its Washington Street home for the foreseeable future, Mitchell added, and has turned down offers to sell the property.

"Being 100 tells us that God has this lighthouse here for a reason, for a purpose," Mitchell said. "Since I've been here, I've learned that many offers have been made by businesses to purchase this church. One of those offers was made since I've been here. I told them the things of God are not for sale. When he is ready, he will do what he wants with it.

"This is a lighthouse God has planted here. For 100 years, the message has been going out."

To mark the 100th anniversary, the church planned to hold a dinner this month with up to 200 people - members past and present - in attendance.

Smooth Sailing For 84th Annual Quincy Bay Race Week

By TOM GORMAN

Conditions couldn't have been better for this year's 84th annual Quincy Bay Race Week where sailors of all ages plied the calm waters of Quincy Bay competing in various racing skill levels during the four-day event that ran from Thursday, July 28 through Sunday, July 31.

"Great weather for this year races - perfect wind for all ages and the skill level made this year's racing an exciting regatta," said Paul Lewis, chairman and past president of Quincy Bay Race Week.

The first two days were hosted by the Wessagusset Yacht Club in North Weymouth where inside line races were held. These featured young sailors ages 8 to 18 in Optimist, Laser, N10, Widgeon, and 420 classes. On Saturday, Squantum Yacht Club hosted the outside line races featuring adults in Hustlers and Thunderbirds. That race moved to Wollaston Yacht Club on the final day of racing on Sunday.

The inside line results are:

In the N10 blue class, Kaitlyn Coughlan and Piper Peretti of South Shore Yacht Club placed first and placing second were Emery Leuchte and Maria Paccioretti of the Town River Yacht.

The winner of the N10 red race was Michael Steeves of South Shore Yacht Club, second was Sophie McLaughlin and Madison Agnew of Wessagusset Yacht Club, and placing third were Leena Sardano and Gavin Leblanc from Wessagusset Yacht Club.

Ashley Lippert of Town River Yacht Club was the winner of the Laser radial race.

The Widgeon class winner was the crew of Kou Nishizawa, Liam Hawker, and Bill Ragusa from Quincy Yacht Club.

Bobby Caldwell of Town River Yacht Club won the Optimist red race.

Quincy Downs Hyde Park In Amateur Baseball Action

Jim Keenan, Steve Connolly Shut Down Pirates For Quincy Senior Baseball Sweep

In recent Boston Amateur Baseball League (BABL) action, Quincy came from behind in both games to sweep a feisty Hyde Park Pirates team in the 52+ Colford Division at Adams Field.

In the nightcap of a double-header and knotted up 4-4, Captain Rich Sexton drilled a fastball deep into centerfield, driving in the winning runs for a 6-4 Quincy victory. Jim Keenan went the distance, striking out 7, while former QHS standout Larry Tag made a couple of game-saving catches that were worthy of ESPN top 10 highlight.

In the first game, former BC High (1978) all-star, Steve Connolly delivered another stellar performance on the mound with a 6-5 walk-off victory. With the score tied 5-5 in the bottom of the last inning, Connolly helped himself, roping a single to drive in the winning run and earn his 4th win of the season.

Offensively, John Comeau, Ed Cameron, Pat Arnold, T J Pugliese, and Larry Tag had a pair of hits and RBIs in both games. With five games remaining, Quincy travelled to Waltham before closing out the regular season at Adams for 8 p.m. games on Wednesday Aug. 24th, Monday, Aug. 29th and Wednesday, Aug. 31st. At 5-6, Quincy is vying for one the top 4 playoff seeds in the hotly contested

9-team BABL Colford Division.

"For many of us in the twilight of our baseball careers, you never know how many at bats one has left," said Quincy Manager Michael Hussey. "It's truly a privilege to play on the same 'Field of Dreams' diamond that many of us played our Babe Ruth, high school, and Legion games on decades ago. We want to give a special shout out to Mayor Koch, our fellow veterans/first responders, and the entire Quincy Parks Department for again accommodating us this season!"

NeighborWorks Housing Solutions' 'Fab Five' Run Falmouth Road Race

Associates and friends of NeighborWorks Housing Solutions, a housing service provider in southern Massachusetts, participated in the Asics Falmouth Road Race Aug. 21, raising funds to benefit the agency and the people it serves.

The team consisted of five runners from all over the Commonwealth, and each runner was challenged to raise $1,000 on behalf of NHS. This was NHS's second time participating in the Numbers for Nonprofit program that the Asics Falmouth Road Race offers.

The individual runners included team captain Serenity Belo of Quincy, Chris Holmes of Amesbury, Sarah Roberts of Boston, Lindsey Tertan of Braintree, and Adele Burk of Hadley. They ran the scenic seven-mile race that starts in Woods Hole and ends in Falmouth, and along the way were cheered on by thousands of spectators from all over the country. As an added incentive for the NHS runners, Grey Properties offered to match the amount of donations the runners raise, up to $5,000 total.

"It is so exciting to have an opportunity to run this race. The Asics Falmouth Road Race is an institution, and I know we are all honored to be a part of it," said Serenity Belo, team captain and director of resource development for NHS. "I am also grateful to Grey Property for matching the donations we receive. This means we are able to double our impact and raise more resources for NHS."

The Falmouth Road Race was established in 1973 and has become one of the premier running events of the summer season. The race draws an international field of Olympians, elite, and recreational runners out to enjoy the iconic seven-mile seaside course. The nonprofit Falmouth Road Race organization is committed to promoting health and fitness through community programs and philanthropic giving.

"We're proud of Team NHS and its participation in this important fundraiser," said Robert Corley, CEO of NeighborWorks Housing Solutions. "And we applaud Falmouth Road Race, Inc. for its devotion to the many programs that mean so much to so many people."

YMCA Receives Food Pantry Grant from Harold Brooks Foundation

The South Shore YMCA has been named as a recipient of a $25,000 grant by the Harold Brooks Foundation, Bank of America, N.A., Co-Trustee, funds intended to help fight food insecurity in the Y's service area.

The past two and a half years have seen the rapid expansion of YMCA food programs across the South Shore. With more than 900 children enrolled in early education and afterschool programs and nearly 2,000 children in summer day camps in Hanover, Norwell and Quincy, the South Shore Y feeds children throughout the year. The Hanover Family Farm delivers hundreds of pounds of fresh vegetables to local food pantries each summer and fall.

The greatest evidence of the Y's commitment to fighting food insecurity can be seen in Quincy, the Y said. The Germantown Neighborhood Center Food Pantry distributes approximately 20,000 pounds of food per week to local residents in need. Such constant and heavy activity causes wear and tear on food pantry infrastructure.

"That includes our shelves, refrigerators, freezers, anything and everything that has to do with acquiring, storing and distributing food," said Joshua Esquivel, Community Outreach Director at the Germantown Neighborhood Center. "This grant from the Harold Brooks Foundation is helping us address these capacity issues. It's providing an even brighter future for the food pantry."

For the Y, there is a wonderful historical connection that brings the story full circle. Harold Brooks sat on a committee that helped the Y find land to build its second facility in Quincy, which opened in 1955.

"We are thoroughly grateful for this grant from the Harold Brooks Foundation," said Paul Gorman, president and CEO of the South Shore YMCA. "We are committed to helping eradicate food insecurity, as are all YMCAs. It's heartening to know we have allies such as the Harold Brooks Foundation willing to support our efforts."

Manet Community Health Center Recognizes Mayor Koch During National Health Center Week

A highlight of Manet Community Health Center's weeklong celebration of National Health Center Week (Aug. 7-13) was a special recognition ceremony at its North Quincy practice site to thank Mayor Thomas Koch for his ongoing and staunch support of the health center.

Support has included funding, through the City's Community Development program, improvement projects at all Manet sites in Quincy - Houghs Neck, Snug Harbor and North Quincy - including roof repairs, accessibility improvements, and numerous facility upgrades, including the most recent project currently under way in North Quincy to redesign the lobby and construct a radiology and mammography suite. In addition, under the Mayor's

Swim Experts Launch 'Stay Afloat When You Boat!' Campaign

Boating is the bacon of summer activities. Yet while the summer is already sizzling with aquatic activity, the danger of the open water is at an unusually high level for local families this summer, setting off sirens to swim safety experts.

What's different this year?

- There's a national life-guard shortage.

- Many municipalities have adopted a, "swim at your own risk" mantra with a lack of lifeguards

- With COVID restrictions easing, People are eager to travel and enjoy summer fun!

- The number of personal water vessels like boats and jet skis sales nearly doubled during the pandemic, meaning there are more water-crafts everywhere.

This time on the water can quickly turn into tragedy for those who are not educated about the risks. That's why the local swimming experts from British Swim School are launching the "Stay Afloat When You Boat!" Education Campaign. They're available for interviews in-person or virtually.

We need your help to share these simple and effective life-saving tips to help families stay safe and have fun on the water. The message? Don't be hasty, practice water safety!

Stay Afloat When You Boat! Action Items

- Never leave kids unsupervised near any body of water. This includes time spent on a boat or while children are playing in the sand near the ocean.

- Always designate a "Water Watcher" who is committed to keeping an eye on the kids. This person is not drinking, texting or socializing.

- Children and adults should always wear properly fitting life jackets when in a boat.

- Enter the water feet first. Do not dive in!

Did you know?

- According to the U.S. Coast Guard, drowning was the leading cause of death in boating fatalities in 2020-which is the most recent data available. 86% of the drowning victims WERE NOT wearing a life jacket.

- The majority of boating accidents (56%) take place on calm waters.

- Only 11% of adults report wearing a life jacket while on a boat.

AAA: MA Gas Prices Down 11 Cents; Average $4.16 Per Gallon

Massachusetts's average gas price is down 11 cents from last week ($4.27), averaging $4.16 per gallon. Monday's price is 41 cents lower than a month ago ($4.57), and $1.12 higher than Aug. 22, 2021 ($3.04). Massachusetts's average gas price is 26 cents higher than the national average.

"With prices continuing to fall, drivers and end-of summer vacationers are benefiting from gas prices that are almost a dollar lower than at their peak in mid-June," said Mary Maguire, AAA Northeast Director of Public and Government Affairs. "But now we need to keep an eye on the weather as hurricane season ramps up. Major storms can boost prices by disrupting oil production in the Gulf of Mexico and impacting large coastal refineries."

AAA Northeast's Aug. 22 survey of fuel prices found the current national average to be 5 cents lower than last week ($3.95), averaging $3.90 a gallon. Monday's national average price is 51 cents lower than a month ago ($4.41), and 74 cents higher than this day last year ($3.16).

have a time of fellowship together," Mitchell said.

The church also planned to hold a time of fellowship for its members the evening prior to the anniversary dinner, he said.

Central Baptist Church has about 60 members in Quincy and other communities, Mitchell said. Attendance at its worship services was impacted by the pandemic, he said, but is beginning to bounce back.

"In the last couple of years, our membership has dwindled as far as attendance is concerned, but it's beginning to grow again.

Fortunately, in Central Baptist Church, since this pandemic we have not lost one member to COVID. We have lost members because of other health reasons, but not one member has been lost from this church because of COVID. We praise God for that," Mitchell said.

"Members are beginning to come back again. We're beginning to grow in our attendance. And thank God he has provided means by which the gospel can still go out — Zoom, Facebook. Both of them have the positives and the negative sides of course."

Through Zoom, the church has been able to reach out to the wider world, Mitchell added, including his home country.

"On Zoom, we were heard as far out as East Africa, across the United States, in Liberia, my home country. We thank God for that," he said. "The pandemic was bad, but it brought something good that we can use that we were not using before."

As the church turns 100, Mitchell said members are looking at ways that they can better give back to the community in Quincy and surrounding towns.

"Quincy is a melting pot

— I've learned that since I've been here. It's a melting pot and people here need the gospel. People here need to know the love of God. People here need to know what salvation really means, what is it to receive it, what is it to be redeemed, what it means to be a child of God. That is our mission, to get out to them and let them know," Mitchell said.

"But we also realize that being here in the middle of Quincy, Quincy Center, we must not hold onto ourselves. We must be instruments of service in this community as well. Not just for preaching of the word, but as much as possible for helping others.

"This is one of the things we are now working on, putting thoughts together, to be able to reach out into the community, because there are talents in the church as well. Other than being a preacher, others have talents as well. How can those talents, how can those gifts God has given us, be used in the greater community?"

"We want to see ourselves doing more in the community, serving the community," he added. "We used to have a regular community dinner but when the pandemic came we had to break it for a while, so we're making plans to come back again.

"There are people in the community who are aged. They do not have the means of getting out to do their own work and many of them may not be able to pay people. How can Central, how can I, be of service to them? How can I, through the way I serve them, show the love of God? How can I get them to realize that Christ means something — not just lip service. That's what we're thinking about too."

Quincy Youth Hockey 2022-23 Season Begins Sept. 6

Quincy Youth Hockey is excited to begin the 2022/23 hockey season at Quincy Youth Arena on Sept. 6th.

QYH has numerous teams playing in the South Shore Conference travel league with ages between 6-15 and in the PHL with the Quincy 67s travel team, ages 8-18. QYH hosted try-outs for both leagues back in March and April and looks forward to a great season.

Quincy Youth Hockey will also be running its very popular Learn to Skate (LTS) and Learn to Play (LTP) programs. LTS is for children that have either never skated or have only a few times. Children will learn the basics during this program. LTP is for children that have "graduated" from the LTS program and are ready to learn some foundational skills of hockey.

Lastly Quincy Youth Hockey will have an "advanced LTP" for kids who are ready to make the next jump into Mites.

Wollaston Beach Kids' Fest Sept. 4, Cleanup Sept. 17

By MAUREEN MAZRIMAS

Friends of Wollaston Beach

Where did the summer go? At this point, it won't be long before school is back in session. Before that happens, Friends of Wollaston Beach would like to invite you to join us for the annual Kids' Fest.

In cooperation with Save the Harbor/Save the Bay (SH/SB) the City of Quincy Department of Natural Resources (QDNR), the Wollaston Yacht Club (WYC), the North Quincy High School Jr ROTC, and the Department of Conservation and Recreation (DCR), FWB will return to the Beach for this annual free, fun-filled, event.

• The date: Sunday, Sept. 4

• The time: 1 to 4 p.m.

• The place: Quincy Shore Drive between Davis and Beach Streets near the Wollaston Yacht Club.

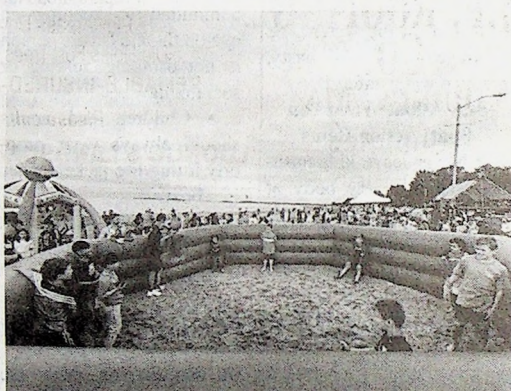

Kids' Fest will feature a series of age-appropriate inflatables, 5 in 1 Sports Center, Gaga ball, Musical Bubble Barge, Giant Connect 4, Giant Jenga, Corn Hole, glitter tattoos, face painting, prizes, and a DJ with music to facilitate games and dancing!

The 2022 Kids' Fest also features the following:

• Performers from the Boston Circus Guild.

• SH/SB will also have a touch tank and STEAM (science, technology, engineering, arts and mathematics) activities.

• Coloring books ex-

WOLLASTON BEACH KIDS' FEST will be held Sunday, Sept. 4, on the beach between Davis and Beach Streets, Quincy Shore Drive, near the Wollaston Yacht Club. Activities will include age-appropriate inflatables, games, face painting and performers from the Boston Circus Guild.

ploring the various fish and marine habitat in Boston Harbor, provided by Massachusetts Boating and Yacht Clubs (MBYCA) and Mass Fisheries;

• Dwayne the Storm Drain — an informative and fun coloring book discussing the impacts of stormwater — provided by the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority (MWRA).

• Fun take-aways such as kites, bubbles and beach toys.

In the event of inclement weather, any decision to cancel will be made by Saturday, Sept. 3 and will be posted on friendsofwollaston.com and savetheharbor.org.

Hoping to see you on the beach on Sept. 4!

Also, please mark your calendars for Saturday, Sept. 17 from 10 a.m. to noon for the annual COASTSWEEP Cleanup. Plan to meet on Wollaston Beach (between Beach and Davis).

COASTSWEEP Massachusetts was formed in 1987. COASTSWEEP participants will join hundreds of thousands of other volunteers in the world's largest volunteer effort for the ocean — Ocean Conservancy's International Coastal Cleanup — collecting trash, fishing line and other marine debris, and recording data on what they find. This data is used to find solutions for keeping trash out of the ocean.

Maureen Mazrimas, president of Friends of Wollaston Beach noted that: "Participation in this cleanup has never been more important. Not only does the cleanup preserve and protect the beach's fragile ecosystems, but the data collected in COASTSWEEP is invaluable in identifying the sources of pollution to better allocate ever-dwindling resources on the state and federal level. This cleanup really makes a huge difference!"

To learn more about FWB or the cleanup, please see friendsofwollaston.com for further details. To volunteer for the 9/17 cleanup, please go to: www.mass.gov/forms/coastswEEP-volunteer-release-form-for-dcr-beaches and sign onto the FWB cleanup (Boston Harbor tab) or email FriendsWollastonBeach@gmail.com. If you would like to join FWB, dues are $10 per year. An application can be found on the website.

FRIENDS OF WOLLASTON BEACH will also take part in COASTSWEEP Cleanup Saturday, Sept. 17 from 10 a.m. to noon at Wollaston Beach (between Beach and Davis Streets). To volunteer for the Sept. 17th cleanup, go to: www.mass.gov/forms/coastswEEP-volunteer-release-form-for-dcr-beaches and sign onto the FWB cleanup (Boston Harbor tab) or email FriendsWollastonBeach@gmail.com.

OBITUARIES

Jung J. Cho, 79

Jung J. (Lee) Cho, age 79, of Quincy, died peacefully, Sunday, Aug. 14, 2022, in the comfort of her home, surrounded by her loving family.

Jung was born in Seoul, South Korea, to the late Jae Hyun Lee and Oak Soon Hahm. Raised and educated there, she immigrated to the United States with her young sons in 1979 at the age of thirty-six. She lived in Dorchester for twenty years before moving to Quincy twenty-three years ago.

She worked with the Colonial Meat Packing Company in Boston for several years and then was employed as a machine operator for the Gillette World Shaving Headquarters in South Boston for twelve years.

Jung was a hard-working woman, devoted to her two sons and their families. In South Korea, she was a talented seamstress and loved making clothes for her family.

Beloved mother of Tae H. "Teddy" Cho and his wife Yumi Park of Attleboro, Jae H. Cho and his wife Andrea (Sansone) Cho of Stoneham.

Cherished grandmother of Sarah Cho of Stoneham.

Dear sister of In Sang Cha of Brookline, Richard Lee, Sr. and his wife Susie of Tewksbury.

Jung is also survived by many nieces and nephews.

At the request of the family, funeral services were private.

For those who wish, donations in Jung's memory may be made to the Quincy Police Department, D.A.R.E. Program, 1 Sea St., Quincy, MA 02169 or Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center, Office of Philanthropy, 330 Brookline Ave (OV), Boston, MA 02215.

You are invited to visit www.thesweeneybrothers.com or call 617-472-6344.

Alden W. Strecker, Jr. of Quincy, died peacefully at his home on Sunday, Aug. 21, 2022. He was 92.

Born in Boston on January 5, 1930, Alden was the only child of Alden Sr. and Mary (Gould). He was the apple of his mother's eye. Alden grew up in Quincy and graduated from North Quincy High School in 1948 where he played on the varsity basketball team. Upon graduating, he enlisted in the United States Marine Corps and served four years total, serving in Korea. When he returned to the states, he spent his final year stationed at the Hingham Naval Base as a Staff Sergeant. His next adventure was driving cross country to California where he settled down in San Diego for a few years.

Alden returned home to join his father, uncle, and his cousin Frank in running the family printing firm,

ALDEN W. STRECKER, JR.

The Strecker Press, in South Boston where he devotedly worked until his retirement in 2000. In 1967, Alden met the love of his life, Valerie DuPont Cook. Together they shared 35 loving years of marriage until her death in 2003. Alden was a loving father to six, and "Grampy" to fourteen grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. His grandchildren will remember him fondly for his hilarious stories about growing up in Quincy, homemade Christmas, and birthday cards, and famously never missing a Red Sox game. After his wife's passing Alden found a new home at The Moorings, where he lived for 16 years and was nicknamed by friends, "The Mayor of the Moorings". Alden's favorite way to spend an afternoon was taking walks on Wollaston Beach, feeding the birds, and people/dog watching. He and his daughter Ingrid did not miss one game of the Red Sox 2021/2022 seasons. Alden was friendly, silly, and always good for a laugh. He will be deeply missed and remembered by all who knew and loved him.

Alden is predeceased by his wife Valerie (Dupont), and survived by his daughter Linda Mott and husband Rick of Quincy, daughter Victoria Cook of Fall River, son Christopher Cook of Bridgewater, daughter Suzanne Guardia and husband Lou of Whitman, daughter Ingrid Riley and husband Michael of Quincy, and son Alden Strecker, III. He is also survived by his fourteen grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to greet the family during the visiting hours on Friday, Aug. 26, 2022, 9-11 a.m. in the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Quincy.

His funeral service will be celebrated on Friday, Aug. 26, 2022, at 11 a.m. in Keohane Funeral Home, Quincy.

Services will conclude with interment and military honors in Pine Hill Cemetery, Quincy.

In lieu of flowers, donations in memory of Alden may be sent to Massachusetts General Hospital, Development Office, 125 Nashua St., Suite 540, Boston, MA 02114-1101.

See www.Keohane.com for directions and online condolences.

1st Anniversary
8-29-21 — 8-29-22

I'd like the memory of me to be a happy one, I'd like to leave an afterglow of smiles when life is done.

I'd like to leave an echo whispering softly down the ways, of happy times and laughing times and bright and sunny days.

I'd like the tears of those who grieve, to dry before the sun of happy memories that I leave when life is done.

OBITUARIES

Marilyn V. Robertson, 90

Marilyn V. Robertson of North Quincy passed away on August 18, 2022. She was 90 years old.

As a lifelong resident of Norfolk Downs, Marilyn lived in the same house in which she was born. She graduated from North Quincy High School, where she was an avid softball player with offers to play professionally. Instead, she chose a long career at John Hancock Insurance Company, from where she retired to start a second career with a crafts store chain. Marilyn was known for her feisty personality, and she will be missed terribly by all who knew her.

She was a devoted golfer, winning several local tournaments and making many friends in the process. As a cat lover and owner, she gave generously to pet charities. She was a frequent shopper from QVC who frequently shared her "finds" with family members.

Marilyn is survived by her sister Janet (Robertson) Twomey of Peabody, MA; her nephew Jeff Vancura and his wife Carol of Whitman, MA; her niece Gayle Filo of Crofton, MD; and her nephew John Vancura and his wife Elissa of Medfield, MA; in addition to 5 grand-neices and -nephews, 2 great-grandnephews, a great-grandniece, and her adored cat, Eva. Marilyn is predeceased by her parents, John and Alice (Lemieux) Robertson, her sister Shirley (Robertson) Watt, and her beloved longtime partner Winslow Keyes. The family will hold a private Celebration of Life followed by a private burial.

Funeral arrangements by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Quincy.

Donations in Marilyn's name may be made to the ASPCA (American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals) at www.aspc.org.

Rachael M. Cashman Nylen, 90

Rachael M. (Solimando) Cashman Nylen, age 90, of Hingham, formerly of Yarmouth and Sarasota, Fla., died peacefully on Aug. 17, 2022, at Linden Ponds in Hingham, in the comfort of her loving family.

Rachael was born in Boston to the late Michael and Madeline (Verrochi) Solimando. Raised in Dorchester, she attended Notre Dame and Chauncy Hall. She had lived in Hingham for the past five years.

Rae was a devoted mother to her six children and a loving grandmother to six cherished grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Rae, a glamorous, generous and charitable person, was an avid golfer and an award-winning horticulturist. She was adventurous and loved to travel, including many worldwide trips.

For 30 years, Rae was the beloved wife of the late Richard A. Nylen, who died on June 15, 2022. Dick was the love of her life, and they spent many happy years together traveling, attending the opera, golfing and exploring some of the best restaurrants in the world.

Devoted mother of Madeline C. Furnish, Jay M. Cashman (wife Christy), James M. Cashman (wife Cathy), and Carolyn Skaves (husband James) and former wife of the late John M. Cashman, Rae always pushed her children to be the best they could be. She was their biggest cheerleader and encouraged them to always dream big. She considered her children her greatest accomplishment.

Loving grandmother of Erica Shevlin (husband Matthew), Jaclyn Childs (husband Trevor), Ashly Cashman, Casey Cashman, Jay Michael Cashman, and Quinn Cashman. Cherished great-grandmother of Rhett, Cole, Hudson, and Tucker. GG's Christmas gifts to her grandchildren was always cash because as she put it, money never went out of style.

The dear sister of Concetta Kelley (husband Gene), Michael Solimando (wife Robin), and sister-in law Marylou Freccero (husband Robert), Rae is also lovingly survived by many nieces, nephews, and their families, as well as Dick's children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren.

Visiting hours were held at the Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave., Quincy, on Aug. 21.

A Funeral Mass was celebrated Aug. 22 at Divine Mercy Parish in Saint Mary's Church, 95 Crescent St., West Quincy. Interment was at Saint Mary's Cemetery, West Quincy.

Funeral arrangements were by the Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave., Quincy.

Memorial donations may be made to St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, 501 St. Jude Place, Memphis, TN 38105 or www.stjude.org.

Dear World,

My young son starts to school today. It's going to be sort of strange and new to him for awhile, and I wish you would sort of treat him gently. You see, up to now he's been king of the roost. He's been boss of the backyard. His mother has always been near to soothe his wounds and repair his feelings. But now things are going to be different. This morning he's going to walk down the front steps, wave his hand, and start out on the great adventure. It is an adventure that might take him across continents, across oceans. It's an adventure that will probably include wars and tragedy and sorrow. To live his life in the world he will have to live in, will require faith and love and courage.

So, World, I wish you would sort of look after him. Take him by the hand and teach him things he will have to know. But do it gently, if you can. He will have to learn, I know, that all men are not just, that all men are not true. But teach him also that for every scoundrel there is a hero. That for every crooked politician there is a great and dedicated leader. Teach him that for every enemy there is a friend. Steer him away from envy, if you can, and teach him the secret of quiet laughter. In school, World, teach him it is far more honorable to fail than to cheat. Teach him to have faith in his own ideas, even if everyone says they are wrong. Teach him to be gentle with gentle people and tough with tough people. Try to give my son the strength not to follow the crowd when everyone is getting on the bandwagon. Teach him to listen to all men - but teach him also to filter all he hears on a screen of truth and take just the good that siphons through. Teach him, if you can, how to laugh when he is sad. Teach him there is no shame in tears. Teach him there can be glory in failure and despair in success. Treat him gently, World, if you can, but don't coddle him, because only the test of fire makes fine steel. Let him have the courage to be impatient. Let him have the patience to be brave. Let him be no man's man. Teach him always to have sublime faith in himself, because then he will always have sublime faith in mankind.

This is quite an order, World, but see what you can do. He's such a nice little fellow, my son!

-Dan Valentine

Firefighters Put Out Two Two-Alarm Fires Saturday

By SCOTT JACKSON

Quincy firefighters on Saturday battled a pair of two-alarm fires, one in a South Quincy neighborhood and the other at a Quincy Point industrial building.

Firefighters were called to 43 Brook Rd. in the South Quincy neighborhood shortly before 11 p.m. on Saturday, Deputy Chief Joseph Barron Jr. said Monday. While the first companies were en route to the scene, the department was informed that the fire had spread to the adjacent home at 39 Brook Rd.

On arrival, firefighters were met with extensive fire at the rear of 43 Brook Rd. while the exterior of the neighboring house was also on fire. Barron, who was the incident commander that evening, said the quick action of the first companies on scene limited the damage caused by the fire.

"The first-arriving companies did a great job preventing it from getting worse," he said.

The scene was cleared around 1 a.m. on Sunday.

The bulk of the damage to 43 Brook Rd. was to the home's exterior, Barron said, while the damage to 39 Brook Rd. was limited to the exterior. A cost estimate for the damage was not immediately available.

Barron said that three firefighters received minor injuries but remained on scene and two residents were taken to the hospital for evaluation. The fire displaced a total of four residents.

The Quincy Fire Department and the State Fire Marshall's Office continued to investigate the cause of the Brook Road fire as of noon-time on Monday, Barron said, but it does not appear suspicious.

Earlier on Saturday, at 11:30 a.m., firefighters were called to the Twin Rivers Technology plant on Washington Street after a fire broke out in one of the building's processing towers.

Barron said Saturday's fire at the plant was "essentially the same" as one firefighters extinguished there in April. That fire was caused by a malfunction in a hydrolyzer, a pressurized apparatus the plant was using to treat coconut oil. The hydrolyzer leaked, aerosolizing the coconut oil before the oil caught fire.

Firefighters were able to clear the scene at Twin Rivers by 3 p.m. on Saturday.

Get Out And Vote Because The Future Depends On It

As I read last week's Quincy Sun, I could not be but a little dismayed.

According to a front page story on the upcoming primary election, the expectations from the City Clerk's office is that the voter turnout should be about 25 percent. When you think about that, you could also say that 75 percent of Quincy's registered voters will abstain from their role in our democratic republic.

Government is our business as I have always stated. Either we run the government or it runs us. The choice is always ours.

When you think about the sacrifices made from so many Americans going back to this nation's birth, it is small potatoes just to vote. Too many have sacrificed and died for the freedoms we seem to care so little about.

We have many ways to vote. We can early vote. We can mail in the vote. We can just show up at the polls on election days. No excuses about it being too difficult to find the time to do.

I always tell folks if you can't find the time to vote and do your basic duty as a citizen, then stop bitching afterwards.

This Primary Day, Sept. 6, there are several heated races going on across both parties. Democrats statewide have primary fights for secretary of state, state auditor and lieutenant governor.

Republicans have a battle going on for governor with both Geoff Diehl and Chris Doughty battling out their visions for the future of our state.

I say voting is the easiest thing we can do because we must remember we have a voice in our government. We can't pass the buck to someone else. Vote as if the future depends on it because it does.

HERE IS A PLEASANT LITTLE GAME that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner and check one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Salome's Stars

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)
A strong social whirl brings a new round of good times to fun-loving Rams and Ewes. Also, Cupid is busy aiming arrows at single Lambs hoping for a heart-to-heart encounter.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)
A romantic incident could take a more serious turn if the Divine Bovine considers meeting Cupid's challenge. Meanwhile, a professional opportunity is also about to turn up.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20)
A bit of hardheaded realism could be just what the Twins need at this emotionally challenged time. Face the facts as they are, not as you want them to be. Good luck.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22)
Many opportunities are opening up. But, you need to be aware of their actual pros and cons. Check them all out and make your choice from those that offer more of what you seek.

LEO (July 23 to August 22)
A more stable situation begins, allowing you to feel more secure about making important decisions. Meanwhile, be sure to meet any project deadlines so that you can move on to other things.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22)
Congratulations. A new personal relationship thrives, as you learn how to make room in your busy life for this wonderfully warm and exciting emotional experience.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22)
A new contact opens some doors. That's the good news. But, there's a caution involved: Be sure you protect your rights to your work before showing it to anyone else.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21)
A former colleague might seek to resume a working partnership. Ask yourself if you need it. If yes, get more information. If no, respectfully decline the request.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21)
Good times dominate your aspect. So, why not have a party to celebrate a loved one's success? And do invite that special person you want to get to know better.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19)
The shy side of the Sea Goat soon gives way to your more assertive self. This should help you when it comes time to speak up for yourself and your achievements.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18)
A new period of stability will help you deal with some recently reworked plans. Once you get your current task done, you can devote more time to personal matters.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20)
Things are finally much more stable these days, so you can restart the process of meeting your well-planned goals with fewer chances of interruptions or delays.

BORN THIS WEEK: You love being the brightest light wherever you go, and people love basking in your warmth and charm.

CryptoQuip answer

by Tony Rizzo

HOLLYWOOD – Matthew McConaughey's finally back at work on his first film since 2019's "The Gentlemen." Ironically, it's called "Dallas Sting," and it's a fact-based film about the Dallas High School girls' soccer team headed for the 1984 women's soccer competition in China. Did McConaughey pick this one because "Dallas" is in the title? After all, it was "Dallas Buyer's Club" (2013) that gave him his Oscar.

Are streaming platforms picking the bones of classic old films? In the spirit of competition, platforms are remaking any classic film they can wrangle the rights to from old studios, who can't make money off those titles unless they sell remake rights! Let's start with a planned remake of the 1973 classic film "The Exorcist," which Peacock is rebooting with Emmy-winner Ann Dowd (Aunt Lydia in "The Handmaid's Tale"), Leslie Odom Jr., and Ellen Burstyn (now 89) from the original film. Burstyn just completed the comedy-drama "Three Months," which stars South African/Australian pop singer Troye Sivan, Judy Greer and Louis Gossett Jr. Leslie Odom Jr. is due soon in "Glass Onion: A Knives Out Mystery," which is Daniel Craig's first post-007 role. It also stars Edward Norton, Kate Hudson, Janelle Monae and Dave Bautista. Meanwhile, Amazon's rebooting the 1992 classic "Road House," which starred Patrick Swayze and Sam Elliott. This time, it'll star Jake Gyllenhaal (coming soon in an untitled Guy Ritchie film), along with Billy Magnussen and Travis Van Winkle. And, Hulu has committed to a reboot of the 1988 classic "Working Girl," which earned Oscar nominations for three of its female stars – Melanie Griffith, Sigourney Weaver and Joan Cusack – with Harrison Ford in the lead male role.

Then, there's the untitled film based on a short story of H.P. Lovecraft's, starring Heather Graham and "Re-Animator" star Barbara Crampton, a queen of horror in such films as "Chopping Mall," "From Beyond" and "Puppet Master." Also a part of the cast is Bruce Davidson, who starred in "Willard," the film that introduced the rat, Ben, and gave Michael Jackson a worldwide hit.

Other "not so classic" films being remade are "Highlander," "Big Trouble in Little China," "Alien Nation," "The Toxic Avenger," "Flash Gordon," Arnold Schwarzenegger's "Commando" and Chevy Chase's hit "Fletch." Then, there's "All Quiet on the Western Front," "Lost Boys," "The Bodyguard" and -- the big shocker -- a remake of "My Fair Lady." Maybe you'll enjoy seeing some of your favorites brought back! Peter Allen, once married to Liza Minnelli, wrote a song in 1974 called "Everything Old Is New Again." They should let sleeping dogs lie!

KOVELS Antiques & Collecting

By Terry and Kim Kovel

Tobacco Jars – Many figural tobacco jars were made in the late 1800s and early 1900s, marked with just the letters "JM" or the letters and the printed word "Bohemia" or "Czechoslovakia." The jars held loose pipe tobacco, but they were not humidors made to control humidity. The figural jars are about 18 to 20 inches high with small statues of children seated in chairs, a dog in a barrel, a man drinking beer, even Buster Brown or gnomes. Some of the jars are also marked with a city, the location of one of the many factories like Aussig, Bohemia. Most of the jars were made of terra cotta or majolica.

A telltale, signed JM jar has buff colored edges showing the ceramic. The maker was Johann Maresch (1821-1914). He worked at many different factories and probably owned some of them. Other potters also used an initial mark. The jars by Johann Maresch sell for $300 to $500. The other potters' work sells for less than $200.

Q: My daughter's name is Kelly, and when she was a toddler, I started buying a small doll named Kelly that was Barbie's "little sister." They were sold for about $5 each, if I remember correctly. I bought a dozen of them over the years, putting them immediately into a box for safekeeping. They are all in their original boxes. They've never been opened. Are they just a fun remembrance of her childhood, or will they be worth something in the future?

A: The 3-inch-high preschool doll Kelly was marketed as the younger sister of Barbie, Skipper and Stacie. Kelly was introduced in 1995 and retired in 2010. She was replaced by Chelsea in 2011. She was dressed in Halloween costumes, Christmas dresses and St. Patrick's Day green for the holidays. She was sold both separately and in boxes with a Barbie. Sale prices for in-the-box Kellys are between $25 and $35 online.

TIP: Keep a list of the things you are looking for and the sizes that will fit in your house. That includes space needed to get a large piece up a stairway with a low ceiling or a sharp turn.

Strange BUT TRUE

• Venus rotates so slowly that a single day on the planet lasts longer than a year.

• While over 50 million Americans have signed up with a local gym, according to one study of 2,000 such members, 50% admitted they didn't even exercise when they got there but instead preferred to spend their time hanging out with friends or checking out the opposite sex.

• Cherry farmers hire helicopter pilots to air-dry their trees after it rains so the fruit won't split open.

• Toe wrestling has been a sport in several countries since the '70s, with men's and women's divisions and even a World Championship. Players attempt to pin and hold down their opponent's bare toes for three seconds. Best two out of three rounds wins!

• Speaking of feet, the overwhelming fear of those appendages is called podophobia.

• Cartoon canine Scooby

Doo's excessive use of the letter "R" is the result of a speech disorder known as rhotacization.

• The first public phone call on an Apple iPhone was a prank. On a San Francisco stage, Steve Jobs opened Google Maps, located a nearby Starbucks, and placed an order for 4,000 lattes, then told the surprised barista he was just joking and hung up.

• Classical composer Franz Schubert was nicknamed "Little Mushroom" for his short stature and wide girth.

• New York has been destroyed in more movies than any other city.

• A dating app called Hater that began as a joke in 2016 matched potential couples according to their dislikes. While it launched to respectable success, it only lasted a couple of years. Perhaps it was the name?

• Statistically, the most dangerous job one can hold in America is president.

Now here's a tip!

by Jo Ann Derson

• To test the seals on your refrigerator and freezer, close a piece of paper in the door. If you can pull it out easily, it's likely that your seal is loose. Clean or replace door gaskets for a better seal.

• To keep vinyl seats bearable in summer heat, keep a few towels in your car and lay them over the seat. This also keeps the plastic parts of baby seats from burning little legs and arms.

• You can use plain white bread to get fingerprints and smudges off of wallpaper and semigloss painted walls. Just ball up the bread center (not the crust) and rub the smudge away.

• "Out of prewash and looking at a nasty grease stain? Grab your dishwashing liquid soap (not the one you would put in your automatic dishwasher). It's designed to break down grease, and I just dab it on, scrub a bit, then let it set for about a quarter hour. After that, I launder in hot water. It's usually successful." – via email

• Check bagged frozen vegetables with the squeeze test: A bag that's hard and solid has thawed and subsequently refrozen. You should choose another bag, one with loose, free-moving pieces.

• Remove cloudiness from a batch of tea with this trick: Let your tea cool before refrigerating it. You also can add a small bit of boiling water to a glass of iced tea if it is already cloudy.

celebrity extra

by Dana Jackson

Q: Is LeAnn Rimes still doing music? I remember seeing her on a billboard for a concert at a local casino a while back, but nothing since. — F.N.

A: It's been 25 years since LeAnn Rimes shot to stardom at the age of 13 with her hit song "Blue." Growing up in the public eye took its toll on her, and she sought help years later for depression, anxiety and codependency. She's much happier and healthier now, with husband/actor Eddie Cibrian ("Hot in Cleveland") and stepsons Mason and Jake. She's even made amends with Eddie's ex-wife, Brandi Glanville ("Real Housewives of Beverly Hills"). After taking a break from show business during the isolating pandemic, Rimes is preparing to release a new album, "God's Work," on Sept. 16, and she's already in the midst of her tour. You can find tour dates and other information at www.LeAnnRimes.com.

Q: Is it true that they are reviving "The Love Boat"? Will it have celebrity guest stars like the original did? It's a shame the late Gavin MacLeod can't be a part of it. — Y.R.

A: Yes, "The Love Boat" is the latest nostalgic reboot of an old TV show, but with a twist. It won't be a drama with celebrities like Charo looking for fictional love. Instead, according to TV Guide, the new version will be a reality show where "singles set sail on a real Princess cruise ship and, as they visit exotic Mediterranean ports, pair up to test their chemistry with challenges."

Real-life husband and wife Jerry O'Connell and Rebecca Romijn are hosts of the dating show, and while you won't see Gavin MacLeod, who played Capt. Stubing and passed away last year, you will see other familiar faces. Jill Whelan, who played little Vicki Stubing, and Ted Lange, who played bartender Isaac, will pop in to offer words of advice to the contestants. "The Real Love Boat" premieres Oct. 5 at 9 p.m. ET on CBS.

Q: Is Mark Harmon ever coming back to "NCIS"? He was still featured in the opening credits last season, so it makes me think he'll eventually return. — K.L.

A: When we saw Leroy Jethro Gibbs, played by Mark Harmon, cast his fishing line into the chilly Alaskan waters on Oct. 11 of last year, it seemed like a permanent retirement for the character. That was just four episodes into the 19th season of "NCIS," and he's remained off-screen ever since — despite being in the opening credit sequence for the remainder of the season. CBS entertainment president Kelly Kahl explained to TVLine that season 19 was a "transition year for TV's most watched drama," but that it might not be the end for Gibbs. There's a good chance he'll be taken out of the credits for season 20, but that doesn't mean he can't pop back in for a guest appearance or more. Season 20 of "NCIS" will premiere on Sept. 19 at 9 p.m. ET on CBS.

LeAnn Rimes

Even Exchange by Donna Pettman

Each numbered row contains two clues and two 6-letter answers. The two answers differ from each other by only one letter, which has already been inserted. For example, if you exchange the A from MASTER for an I, you get MISTER. Do not change the order of the letters.

Each puzzle consists of a square grid with numbers appearing in all squares. The object is to shade squares so:

5	4	1	3	4
3	4	3	1	5
4	4	2	3	3
2	1	5	4	4

- No number appears in a row or column more than once.
- Shaded (black) squares do not touch each other vertically or horizontally.
- When completed, all un-shaded (white) squares create a single continuous area.

How to Litter Train a New Kitten

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: I'm getting a new kitten from my neighbor. His name is Striper, and he's 10 weeks old. But I'm worried that he won't know how to use the litter box. Once he moves in, how can I train him to use the litter box?

— Kaley in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina

Dear Kaley: Once kittens are able to move around and explore, their moms teach them right away where and how to go. This is a survival skill: Cats hide their waste so that it's harder for predators to find them and so their prey doesn't know they're around.

However, you'll need to make sure Striper knows where it's appropriate for him to go. So, before he comes home with you, prepare for his arrival.

— Have the litter box ready to go, filled with litter, and a scoop and bag nearby.

— As soon as Striper arrives, bring him to the litter box first before anything else. Let him sniff around and get familiar with the box.

What if Striper doesn't use the litter box? Here's what to do:

— If you catch him in the act, don't scold him; pick him up and place him in the litter box. Let him sniff around again and allow him to leave even if he doesn't go again.

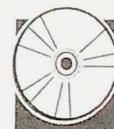

— Get to know his behaviors. Once you recognize Striper is about to go, you can pick him up and get him to the litter box.

— Give him lots of praise when he uses the box and a little treat when he's done.

— If Striper still won't use the box, try shifting it to a new location and show him where it is.

MORE SUN FUN

"Look Both Ways" (TV-14) — The night of college graduation can leave fresh graduates feeling nervous about their future. It can be even more nerve-racking for a young woman like Natalie (Lili Reinhart), who — in the midst of celebrating — takes a pregnancy test after getting an inkling that she might have a baby on the way. If the test is positive, Natalie would stay in her hometown and raise her child, but if negative, she would pursue acting in Los Angeles like she's always dreamed. In life, only one scenario can truly await her, but with a bit of creative storytelling and movie magic, viewers get to see both realities unfold for her simultaneously throughout the film. Premieres Aug. 17. (Netflix)

"On the Count of Three" (R) — In his directorial debut, stand-up comedian Jerrod Carmichael aimed quite high with this gritty comedy film, starring himself and Christopher Abbott as two friends, Val and Kevin, who make a suicide pact. Val and Kevin agree that it'll be the easiest answer to their difficult life problems and wish to spend their last day together to do whatever they want. However, the two assume they can do this without any consequences and end up wreaking havoc in the last 24 hours leading up to their final moments. Full of dark humor and raw human emotion, "On the Count of Three" is one of those movies that will make you laugh and make you cry, probably at the same time. Releases on Aug. 17. (Hulu)

"The Princess" (NR) — Decades after her passing, Diana, Princess of Wales, still serves as an icon in media all around the world, with series like "The Crown" and films like "Spencer" giving their own interpretations of the well-beloved, tragedy-stricken princess. Now, in this newly released documentary, an emphasis is placed on how the media swarmed around Diana, thus spawning a (still-prevalent) unhealthy obsession with the royal family. This documentary uses many years of public footage of Diana leading up to her funeral and, like many of the pieces focusing on her story, goes to show how the institution meant to protect her instead miserably failed her. (HBO Max)

Jerrod Carmichael and Christopher Abbott star as Val and Kevin in "On the Count of Three."

"She-Hulk: Attorney at Law" (TV-14) — Another Marvel series premieres on Disney+ on Aug. 17! Jennifer Walters (Tatiana Maslany) was content with her life and work as a lawyer, until she got contaminated with her cousin Bruce Banner's blood. Now having the ability to transform into She-Hulk, Jennifer has to learn the way of the Hulk. Bruce quickly teaches Jennifer how to master control over her new powers, and with such a strong calling to her work, she just wants to suppress the person inside her and go back to her normal life. But with a 6-foot-tall green version of herself tucked away, she's forced to admit that she's no longer just an attorney — she's a superhero. She's She-Hulk, and it's time for her to step up to the plate. (Disney+)

Opening lead — king of diamonds.

A declarer should be willing to sacrifice a trick if it increases his overall chance of making the contract. Thus, if South makes exactly four hearts in the present case, he scores 620 points (at duplicate or Chicago scoring); if he makes an overtrick, he scores 650; but if he goes down one, he is minus 100.

The 30-points declarer can gain by making five hearts as obviously a drop in the bucket compared with what he can lose if he goes down trying for an overtrick.

Observe how this applies to today's deal. South takes the diamond lead with the ace and sees that he could lose a spade, a club and an unknown number of trumps. How many trump tricks he will lose depends on how the trumps are divided or on how he plays the suit.

At trick two, declarer plays the ace of trump, on which East produces the jack. If South carelessly continues with the king, he goes down one, losing two trump tricks, a spade and a club. But South should not play the king after East's jack appears, since if the jack is a singleton, the king play will almost surely prove fatal.

Declarer should reason that East started with either the singleton jack or the doubleton Q-J. By leading a low trump next, South can restrict himself to one trump loser in either case. This safety play will cost him a trick if East started with the Q-J, but South should be willing to lose 30 points to ensure the contract.

In the actual deal, if South decides to play safe and leads a low trump toward dummy at trick three, he loses only one trump trick — regardless of which heart West chooses to play — and so finishes with 10 tricks.

Consuming Collagen Is Not Proven to Reduce Wrinkles

DEAR DR. ROACH: Several months ago, I started adding 25 grams of whey protein to an afternoon smoothie each day. I was worried about muscle loss after reading an article. I have seen the sagging muscles and skin in my arms and thighs. I am a 71-year-old woman, who plays tennis twice a week and goes to the gym about once a week.

I have friends my age who have started adding collagen powders to their smoothies to improve their skin and prevent further facial wrinkles. After researching collagen supplements, I learned that they contain collagen peptides and protein. The dosage and ingredients vary by vendor. What is the correct collagen dosage and ingredients I should be looking for? Is the protein in collagen the same as the protein in whey? -- R.K.

ANSWER: All proteins, such as whey and collagen, are long strands of amino acids. A "peptide" is two or more amino acids connected, while a "polypeptide" is 20 or more amino acids. A protein is a polypeptide that has a function in the organism. Proteins are broken down by acid and enzymes in your stomach, back into their component amino acids, to be used anywhere the body has need for them.

Part of the reason that skin wrinkles is loss of collagen, but it is not at all clear that consuming more collagen, or any protein, will increase the collagen in the skin and therefore reduce wrinkles. You can save a great deal of money by consuming collagen, if you decide you want to, from time-honored sources like chicken broth. Some collagen supplements are made from parts of animal carcasses that contain heavy metals and other toxins, so I would be wary of supplements.

Medicated creams like vitamin A derivatives (such as retinol or tretinoin) work by increasing collagen production in the skin. Vitamin C creams help prevent the breakdown of the existing collagen in the skin. Vitamin C breaks down quickly, so these creams need to be handled sparingly. Moisturizing the skin makes it appear fuller and helps prevent further damage, especially when a daily sunscreen is included.

DEAR DR. ROACH: I have been diagnosed with acid reflux for 20 years, but have never been on any anti-acid medication until recently, when my doctor prescribed Prilosec. My concern is whether it's safe for long-term use. Is there an ingredient in Prilosec that causes cancer? -- A.M.

ANSWER: Omeprazole (Prilosec) has been safely used for decades by many people. Long-term risks include an increased propensity to bacterial pneumonia; gastrointestinal infections, such as C. diff; and poor absorption of vitamin B12 and calcium. When this class of medications was first introduced, there was concern about an increase in a type of tumor called gastric carcinoid, based on laboratory animal studies. This has not been shown to be of concern in humans. Many people who have been on omeprazole and similar anti-ulcer drugs for years or decades do just fine if they are slowly tapered off the drug. Some people need them to keep their symptoms under control. I try to taper them off, but if a person needs them, it's safe to continue them long-term.

Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual questions, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email questions to ToYourGoodHealth@med.cornell.edu.

1. In which Bill Withers song does he hold a note near the end for 18 seconds?

2. Which artist released an album titled "Comic Book Heroes"?

3. Name the group that released "I'll Sail Away," "She Has Wings" and "City Ties."

4. Which group wrote and released "Whipping Post"?

5. Name the song that contains these lyrics: "Who's gonna ride that chrome three wheeler, Who's gonna make that first mistake, Who wants to wear those gypsy leathers."

Answers

1. "Lovely Day," in 1977. That high-E note was the longest sustained note ever in a U.S. Top 40 song. Another singer (Freddie Curci) is said to have held a note for 20 seconds, but that's not confirmed.

2. Rick Springfield, in 1973. The album came out, was quickly pulled back due to legal problems, and was reissued later.

3. Red, White & Blue (grass), in 1977, all written by Ginger Boatwright, queen of bluegrass music.

4. The Allman Brothers Band, in 1969.

5. "Fire Lake," by Bob Seger and The Silver Bullet Band, in 1980. The song was partially written in 1971 but wasn't picked up again until 1979 when it was finally finished and used on their "Against the Wind" album.

In the Optimist blue class, Gavin Kirk of Squantum Yacht Club placed first and Jake Lippert, also of Town River, finished second.

The Optimist white winner was Sean Leuchte and in second place was Zack Eklund, both from Town River Yacht Club.

Overall in the Optimist race, Kirk placed first, Sean Leuchte second, and Eklund, third.

The 420 race was won by Owen Crowley and Tristan Andre of Squantum Yacht Club; second was Lyla Jackson and Farrah Jackson of Cohasset Sailing Club; and finishing third, Teddy Hefernan and Mason Joyce, Cohasset Sailing Club.

Following the races, awards were presented to the winners.

"This year's racing was an amazing success," said Quincy Bay Race Week Association President Will Hanigan. "It was humbling to see the kids out there competing, their enthusiasm on and off the water, and their glee in receiving the awards."

In the outside line races, Steve Kavanagh of the Savin Hill Yacht Club won the Thunderbirds race. In the Hustlers class, finishing in first place was Rob Healy, second place went to Dick McCabe, and third was Steve Reid Squantum, all three from Squantum Yacht Club.

According to Lewis, the Quincy Bay Race Week Association was founded "with the idea of creating a week of racing off the waters of Quincy and Weymouth to supplement the racing schedule found on the Northern coastline of Massachusetts."

"In the winter of 1937-1938 members of the Quincy Bay Yacht Clubs got together and organized the Quincy Bay Race Week Association," he explained in a news release.

Eight local yacht clubs make up the association: Wessagusset, Quincy, Wollaston, Town River, Metropolitan, Squantum, Braintree and South Shore. The association also has partnerships with several local businesses along with the leadership of the City of Quincy and the Towns of Weymouth and Braintree.

Lewis voiced appreciation to the member yacht clubs.

"Thank you to our eight host clubs for carrying on the tradition of Quincy Bay Race Week," he said.

The association paid tribute to three major supporters who recently passed away: Lou Gainor, past commander of the Metropolitan Yacht Club and longtime host of Nautical Talk Radio on WATD radio; Weymouth Harbormaster Paul Milone; and Henry Lamb, past commander of the Squantum Yacht Club and Quincy Bay Race Week past president.

Known as Captain Lou, Gainor "was a constant champion of the Race Week and was a devoted promoter of the Junior racing," Lewis said.

Milone was "our guardian on the water during the race week" and "always promoting boating safety."

Lamb was described by Lewis as "the quiet behind the scenes visionary leader who embodied the spirit of race week through selfless support of the (Quincy Bay Race Week Association's) scholarships." This year's race was dedicated to Lamb.

"He was a great role model and mentor to our current leadership," said Lewis. "Henry was an amazing supporter to the children and young adults involved with Quincy Bay

WREN CAMPBELL of Quincy Yacht Club pilots her optimist.

Race Week. As a professor at Mass Maritime Academy, he was a quiet donator to the scholarships."

Each year, the association awards scholarships to several local high school graduates who are related to members of the eight yacht clubs. This year's recipients are Eva Somers-Bridge Braintree Yacht Club; Jessica Roa, Metropolitan Yacht Club; Emma Bernasconi, Braintree Yacht Club; Jillian Harrington, Squantum Yacht Club; and Meredith Lewis of both the Braintree and Squantum yacht clubs.

The Quincy Bay Race Week Association was formed 84 years ago by members of the Quincy Bay Yacht Clubs during the winter of 1937-38. The idea was to create a week of sailboat races in the waters off the Weymouth and Quincy coast. In years past, the event featured a beauty contest and a boat parade.

mission is to promote sailing excellence for both the novice and the experienced through competition.

"Quincy Bay Race Week

provides a fun, safe, sail racing forum for the youth of Quincy and Hingham Bay and beyond," Lewis stated in a news release. "Not alone in its mission of racing, the Quincy Bay Race Week Association also promotes comradery and brotherhood between its eight-member yacht clubs."

Association For Gravestone Studies Visits Granite Workers Musuem

The Quincy Quarry & Granite Workers Museum recently hosted a visit to the Museum and the Lyons Turning Mill by 52 members of The Association for Gravestone Studies.

The Association had its 2022 conference and annual meeting at Endicott College in Beverly. The Association For Gravestone Studies (AGS) was founded in 1977 for the purpose of furthering the study and preservation of gravestone. AGS is an international organization with an interest in grave markers of all periods and styles. Through its publications, conferences, workshops and exhibits, AGS promotes the study of gravestones from historic and artistic perspectives, expand public awareness of the significance of historic grave markers, and encourage individuals and groups to record and preserve gravestones.

Al Bina and museum historian Tom Bonomi gave the group a history of the granite industry in Quincy along with demonstrations of stone splitting with the feather and wedge method and stone finishing and polishing techniques all related to fabricating gravestones.
